Sheila Roley, Ed.D., Principal
Jeff Roberts, Assistant Principal

Enrollment: 444 students

Here at Seaside High School, we're unique. Though that might be a bit of a cliché, it is accurate. With our school spirit, dedicated teachers, and positive learning environment, our school is a home away from home for students as well as staff. The time spent at SHS creates lasting memories that won't be easy to forget. With the variety of clubs and after-school activities offered here, anyone can find their place.

It is easy to be surprised by the diversity of our student body—we have adventurers, artists, athletes, and academics. So many different experiences, interests, and perspectives merge together to form a united student body that really is out of the blue.

KEEP CALM AND CANTER ON

Cosma Davis participates in a sport that is not very well-known, equestrian vaulting. It's an unusual sport and consists of gymnastics and dancing on the back of a moving horse. It takes a lot of skill, and it is not as easy as one might think. She discovered it from a friend, and fell in love with it. She attended a drop-in class, which really sparked her interest. YouTube was a useful resource when she was beginning, because she lived far away from where the classes were held. The videos helped her learn a lot about the sport.

She began participating in equestrian vaulting about four years ago. She lived in California at the time and that's when she began attending classes. Davis grew up around horses, and she had always loved being around them. When she discovered equestrian vaulting she was thrilled because it was a sport that involved horses. It was a way that she could show her competitive side, but also do something she was passionate about. She also gets to show her girly side a little.

"The outfits that I compete in are sparkly, which is just one of the many great things about equestrian vaulting," Davis said.

Competitions for this sport are different than most. They are held in many different places all over the world, depending on the level. There are regional, national, and world champion levels. The top teams go to Europe to compete. They're usually held in big barns, and certain clubs will host them. There are many different ways to compete.

There is individual class, team, or double, also known as "pas de deux" which is French for two step. There are many different regions all over the U.S. Davis travels a lot to compete, but she loves it!

This sport is a big part of her life. She dedicates a lot of time to it. From taking care of her horse, to practicing, and building confidence, it takes a lot of work. She loves her team, they are part of the reason she enjoys this sport so much! They're some of her best friends, and that just makes everything more enjoyable.

Not only does she get to spend all this time with her best friends, but she also gets to meet many new people. People from all over the United States and even the world come to the competitions. Meeting new people is such a great experience because you get to learn about other people's cultures, and lifestyle.

The horses are one of Davis' favorite things about this sport.

"Being around the horses is just something I adore. They're such amazing animals," she remarked.

Competition is a big part of any sport, and that's another reason why she loves equestrian vaulting. Being a very competitive person in general, the sport helps Davis express her competitive edge. She is always striving to be better.

"I thrive on that competition."

COREY GILMORE

WHEN IN DOUBT, PEDAL IT OUT.

A cracked rib doesn't stop Corey Gilmore from what he loves doing most, biking. Gilmore first started biking when he was twelve years old and became interested in biking from seeing local riders at the skate park in Seaside near his house. He saved money to buy his first bike from our local prom bike shop.

Gilmore's favorite local place to bike is the Seaside skate park, but his favorite destination biking spots are in Portland.

His favorite part about biking is the thrill of the ride and the style of it. The way it feels to fly through the air, whipping his bike around. Gilmore picks cement over dirt biking, although he does both.

His proudest moment was when he finally nailed his first bar spin and tail whip. The current tricks Gilmore is working on are the "Truck Driver" and "Entering a Comp."

"Trying to teach yourself a new trick isn't easy and a lot of the time it gets very frustrating," he said.

The worst crash Gilmore can remember was when he did a trick and fell, cracking his ribs. He just laid on the ground for a while because it hurt to move, but surprisingly, never went to the hospital.

If he has not been biking in a while, Gilmore likes to warm up by watching videos and listening to motivational music to get him pumped up. He usually wears his everyday outfits for biking, because there is not really a specific way people should dress to bike.

"I do like to change into older shoes so I don't ruin my new ones."

Gilmore likes his current bike, but he likes getting different brands and styles of bikes along with new or different bike parts. He does not treat his bike like he would a car, and often throws it around.

"I don't plan on going pro, but if I got the opportunity, that would be pretty cool."

His goal in life isn't all about biking but it is a hobby that he enjoys and loves to excel in. For now, he has smaller goals such as biking at specific locations, such as the Lumberyard in Portland.

One of his favorite parts about biking is that there is always something new to do, and it is not the same routine every day.

NO GUTS NO STORY

Q: How did you get into hunting?

A: I started watching Lord of the Rings when I was young and that's what got me into bow hunting. It just seemed like something I wanted to do because I went hunting with some people in Bend and I thought it was really fun. I started doing a lot more hunting after that.

Q: Do you just hunt ducks or other animals too?

A: Duck hunting's my main thing. I do hunt elk and deer with a bow because it's really fun and a challenge, but I mostly duck hunt because it's a longer season.

Q: What do you most enjoy about hunting?

A: I feel really accomplished because I wake up early in the morning and go before sunrise. I get out there in the forest or on the river and get to watch the sun rise. That's really pretty and I do enjoy the sport. It's a rush and you just get better and better at it. It's a challenge because you have to get better at duck calling to get them to come. It's just nice to be out in nature away from all the hustle and bustle of school. It's like a stress reliever, when I'm out there I don't think about anything but what I'm doing.

Q: What do you do with the animals when you shoot them?

A: I just gut them right away and then take them home. Ducks are usually eaten that night but deer and elk have to be butchered and put in the freezer. We eat a lot, and we also turn it into jerky and such.

Q: What's the biggest accomplishment you've had?

A: I'm going to have to say my first deer when I was twelve because it was my first hunting trip. There were about seven guys in my group that have been hunting for a long time and I actually shot the biggest deer out of all of us, so I was proud about that.

Q: What's your first memory of hunting?

A: I would go out with my dad bow hunting behind our house and I wasn't old enough to hunt then. I just remember going out in the forest behind my house and my dad walking around trying to find elk. He'd bugle them in and that was fun.

Q: Did anyone inspire you?

A: Actually, not really. My dad had hunted before, back when he was in college, and then he stopped. Then I mostly got him into hunting because I really wanted to do it. I couldn't go if he didn't go, so he started going a lot more and now he's gotten hooked on it.

Q: How often do you go?

A: During duck season I hunt at least one of the days every weekend. During elk season, this year I just went for a straight week and a half in Eastern Oregon. The season was around a month long.

Q: Do you know how many ducks you've shot total?

A: Between ducks and geese, I've probably killed around 400 over the last five years.

Q: What's the biggest animal you've shot?

A: The deer, probably about 200 pounds and that was with a gun, but I haven't gotten an elk yet with a bow so I'm hoping to get one pretty soon.

Q: How would your life be different without hunting?

A: It would be much different. That's my biggest past time and that's half the year. I'm just dedicated to that on the weekends. I go to bed early on Friday nights even when my friends are out hanging out. I'm like "nope, I gotta get up at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning so I'm going to go to bed early."

Q: How would you respond to someone who disagrees with hunting?

A: I would understand it but hunting can be a really good form of conservation. There's been times when people weren't allowed to hunt certain animals. For example, in Yellowstone National Park they couldn't hunt elk and then there were way too many elk that were destroying the streams, killing fish and everything. When we were in Eastern Oregon I saw a bear from 20 yards away. When you're out there in a spot where you can shoot them, they know it and they just take off as soon as they see you. In a campground though, you must have your food all packed up, otherwise bears might come and get it. We'll leave our food out and bears do not come close because they know we're going to shoot them if they come anywhere near us. I feel like people would definitely get attacked less if you could shoot them anywhere, so they're scared of you, and they know you can hunt them.

Q: What do you find most rewarding?

A: It's really rewarding when you put in a lot of work and go the extra mile (sometimes literally), and you get an animal. The first time you sit down and eat something you shot is really rewarding, too.

Q: What advice would you give to someone if they wanted to start hunting?

A: I'd tell them to go out hunting with someone that knows what they're doing and learn the whole process of tracking, finding, shooting, gutting, and hauling out an animal.

THE GOSPEL OF THE FLYING SPAGHETTI MONSTER

At the beginning of the school year, several students were spotted wearing colanders, or pasta strainers, on their heads. The headwear brought stares and questions from many students. Freshman Erik Simmons decided to share exactly what it meant and his feelings behind it.

The pasta strainers are an item worn by those who are part of the religion called Pastafarianism, which is usually thought of as an illegitimate religion, but Simmons disagrees. He was one of the handful of students sporting the pasta strainers and is very aware of what they stand for. The hats symbolize a religion that supports the freedom to support anything you feel strongly about as well as a light-heartedness towards the many rules of most religions.

The first time Simmons was introduced to Pastafarianism was reading about it online, where it had gone viral. He later participated in the religion because he felt strongly about the message after he saw Sophomore Caitlyn Howe wearing her pasta strainer. He was never very religious but he wants people to understand that their religion should count too, if every other religion can be.

Simmons decided to participate and did not keep quiet about his feelings about the Pastafarianism religion.

The pasta strainers drew attention throughout the day they were worn and even caused small arguments about the hats. The students were told to take them off and Simmons stood up and explained their right to religious freedom.

The headgear was only worn once this year. This is because there are holidays celebrated by Pastafarians. There are select days for them to wear the hats.

Simmons says that he doesn't really consider himself a leader of the religion at Seaside High School, but he is simply someone who isn't afraid to share his beliefs.

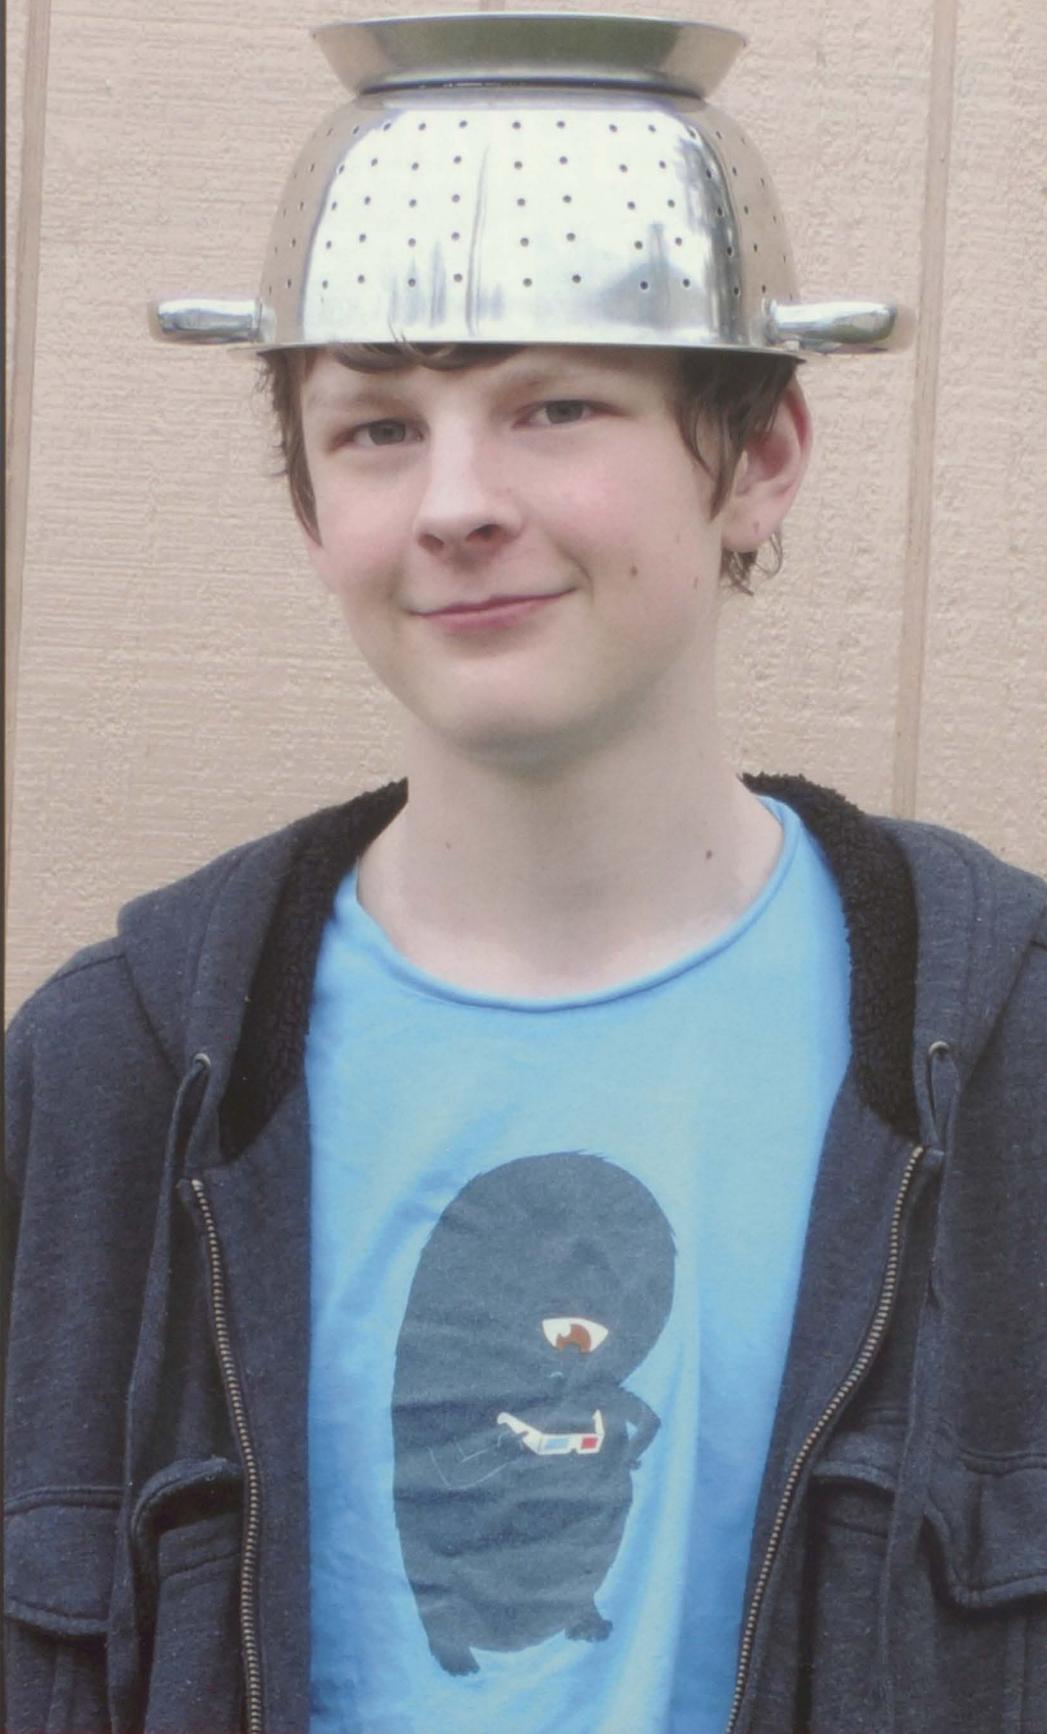

"To those of you who have your own religions, we tolerate yours. Therefore, you should tolerate ours," he said.

Pastafarianism is generally thought of as a joke or a "parody religion" but Simmons takes the meaning of it seriously.

"I believe that all religions and ideas should be accepted and not thought of as strange or unusual."

Simmons is a very creative person and believes that every idea should be considered with an open mind instead of deemed "weird" and dismissed.

"There is more to the religion", Simmons says, "than pasta strainer hats and believing in a Flying Spaghetti Monster. It is about equal respect to all."

PLAYING THE FIELD

Isabella Corrine Curcin was born in Loma Linda, California on June 3rd, 1998. She has one older sister who she loves very much and a corgi that she takes care of like a baby Curcin left California when she was very young and moved to Maine, where she spent most of her childhood. She just recently traded in the calm Atlantic Ocean for the dynamic Pacific.

"The thought of moving so far away from my all of my friends scared me, but I was excited at the same time," she said.

Her classmates know her as the organized girl that loves books, is quiet and friendly. Curcin admits that she prefers to avoid conflicts but she also makes it very clear that she can be tough. She was not allowed to be weak when she lived in Maine and played field hockey.

"No other sport really compares to field hockey, at least no other sport around here. It's a pretty aggressive sport but you have to channel that anger into playing the game right."

The game arms its competitors with potentially dangerous sticks with a curved end. Curcin respected all the other players and she never saw the stick as weapon.

"You can't hit anyone with a stick, even if you are really mad at them."

Field hockey is Curcin's favorite sport, just because it is so much fun. Although most people think of hockey as a male-dominated sport, female teams have quite a following, and field hockey is an Olympic sport for both men and women.

As a field hockey player, Curcin dealt with anxiety before games, but it never lasted long.

"I used to get really nervous right before a game, but every time I heard the starting whistle my nerves would settle down. Well, almost every time. At my very first game, I thought, 'Oh my gosh, I'm in a real game, this is not practice, this is the real deal, and if I lose, I am a failure!'"

Although she laughs about that dramatic attitude now, at the time she was serious. Luckily, the following games were much easier and more fun.

Many things about field hockey were challenging for Curcin, even after subtracting the obvious physical toll from the equation.

"Being on a team is something I had to get used to. Luckily, all the girls on the team wanted the same thing as I did, so it was a smooth transition into the pack. I really liked how welcoming my team mates were. And after a few short weeks of practicing together we were like one big family working together and celebrating together."

In addition to good times, the team had to face some pain.

"It's always sad when a teammate gets hurt. One of my teammates got a concussion when one of the field hockey balls went into the air and came right smack down on the top of her head. Many of us almost cried. It hurts you when you see somebody else hurt like that."

Curcin's friend fully recovered from the incident, but it was still a scary moment for the team. Another one of her most unforgettable moments was making it to the championships.

"We worked so hard to get there. During the game we went into double overtime!"

Their opponent put the ball in her team's goal, and it was a very controversial end to the game. Many of Curcin's teammates thought it should not have counted.

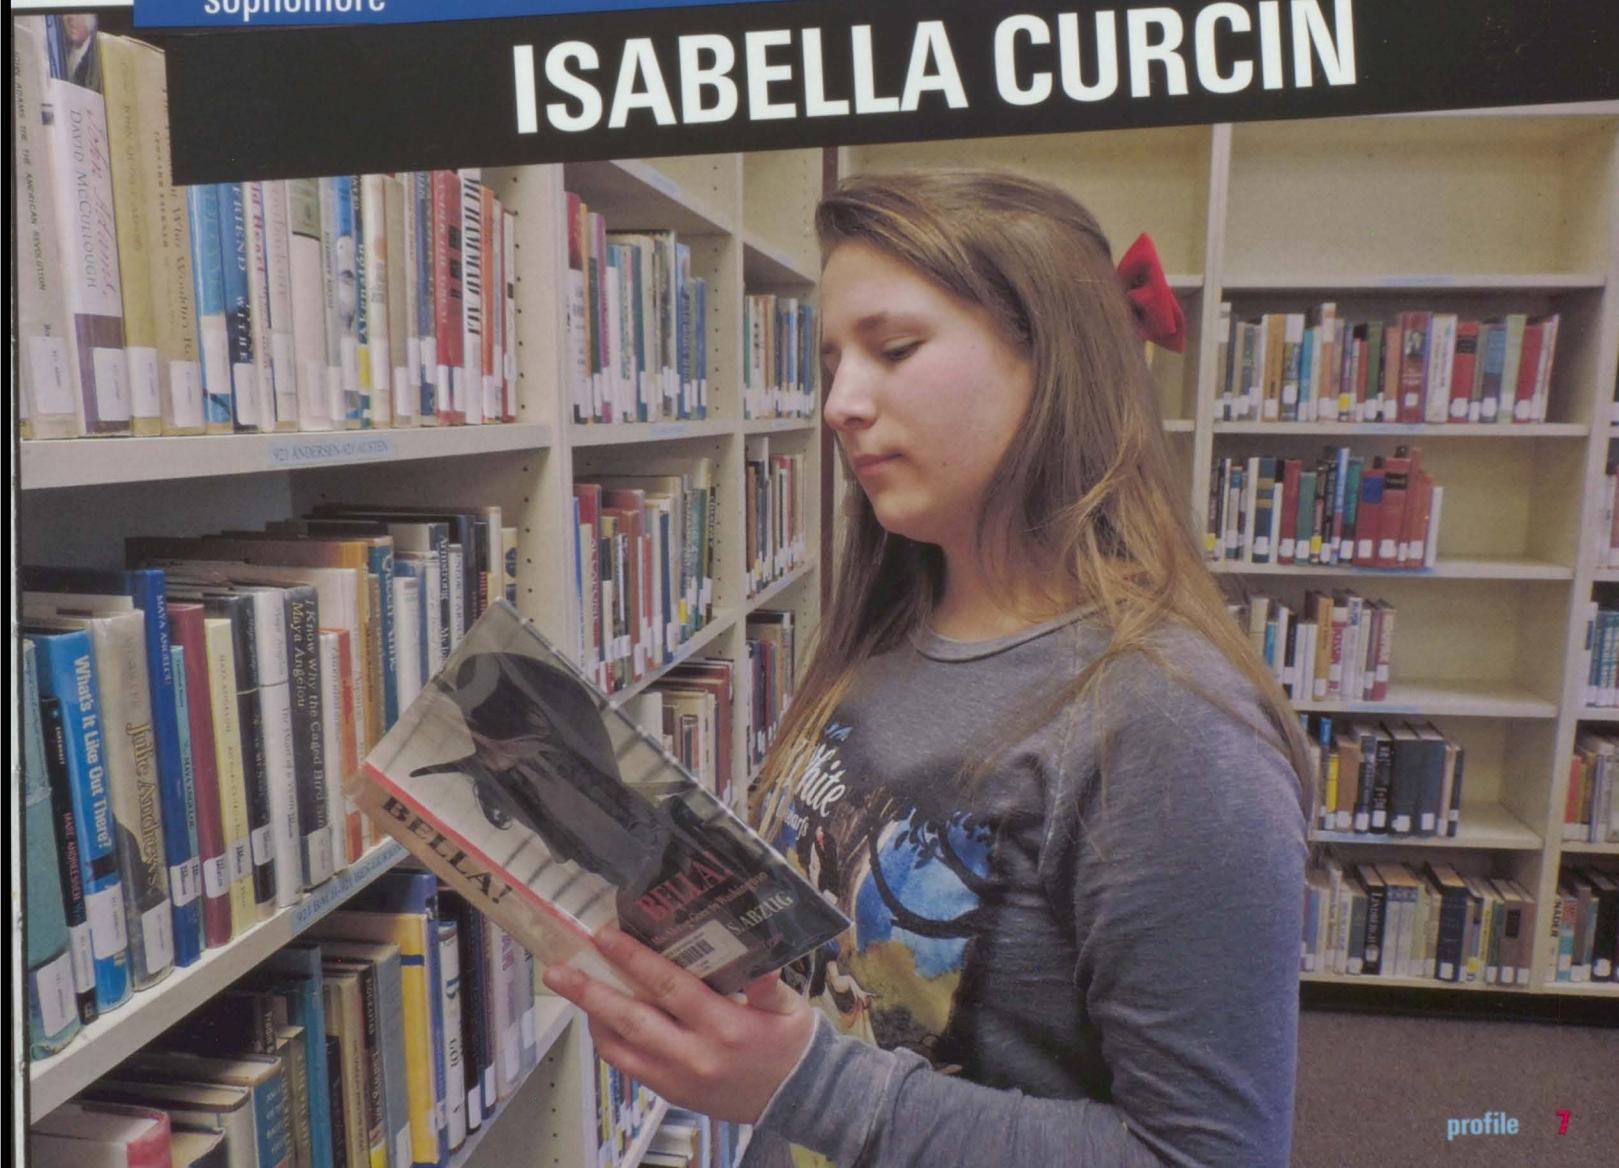

"Everybody on my team looks back at that game and thinks 'wow, just wow.'"

After so many memories playing field hockey, it's no wonder Curcin felt emotional as she relived her moments as a warrior. For now, she doesn't have any access to a team, so she spends her time with friends, as an actor in school plays, and focusing on schoolwork.

"Still, I wish I could join, no, start a field hockey club," she said.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit week 2013 was one of the best students have ever seen. Airband was phenomenal, the dress up days were a hit, and the students of Seaside High really connected, not only as classmates but as a family. The week kicked off with the annual powderpuff game; sophomore and junior girls played against the freshmen and senior class and this year it resulted in a tie. The meatball tournament was surely something to remember, and the seniors won by a landslide. The Hunger Games competition was the next day and Senior Nick Richardson was the victor. The following assembly was the Spirit Fairy competition, and Senior Riley Macomb won the toilet plunger spirit stick. This year's airband performances were incredible. The seniors' rendition of Jimmy Fallon and Justin Timberlake's "#Hashtag" skit from The Late Night with Jimmy Fallon was hilarious and definitely one of the most memorable moments in the week. Both freshmen and sophomores worked "Greased Lightning" from Grease into their performance, which foreshadowed that play as Mrs. Morrisson's choice for the spring musical. The Class of 2016 won the airband competition followed by the seniors, juniors, then freshmen.

John Kero leads the senior class in his airband role of Richard Simmons. They rocked their airband performance, and ended up second place.

Former Chief Inspector Charles Dreyfus is nearly set to be released from a mental hospital after being cleared by his doctor. However, a visit from current Chief Inspector Jacques Clouseau resurrects his insanity, so he is no longer allowed to leave. Determined to take out Clouseau once and for all, he escapes and blows up Clouseau's apartment, but fails to kill Clouseau. As a back-up plan, he abducts a famous scientist in order to build a Doomsday Machine which vaporizes whatever it hits. Dreyfus threatens to use it unless Clouseau is exterminated, so reluctantly, 26 countries send their top assassin to kill the Chief Inspector. His clumsiness saves him again, and the assassin's attempts kill each other. In a conquest to save the world, Clouseau heads out to put an end to Dreyfus's terror once and for all.

SNOBALL

Alexis Blaska, Haylieh Bell, and Laurie Stauffer look cute while having a good time!

This year's Snoball dance was a small one, but surely not one to be forgotten. The theme for the winter dance was 'All Around the World' with a red and gold color scheme put together by the Key Club. Ironically, during the weekend of the Snoball dance, Seaside saw a fair amount of snow which caused school to be cancelled and all activities were rescheduled as well. The following weekend came around and students were finally able to have a fun night of dancing and enjoying themselves. John Kero and Katie Corliss were crowned Snoball king and queen, and shared the first slow dance of the night. Popular songs like 'Dark Horse' by Katy Perry, 'Story of My Life' by One Direction, 'Timber' by Pitbull Feat. Ke$ha, and 'Let Her Go' by Passenger were the top hits of the night, but then out of the blue 'Thriller' by Michael Jackson started to play and everyone brought back the dance moves from the 80s like the moonwalk and electric slide. Snoball 2014 was a lot of fun and truly a night to remember!

FANCY FOOTWORK

Q: When did you start dancing?

A: I started dancing when I was two years old and have been dancing ever since.

Q: Why did you start dancing?

A: I started dancing because my mother knew the woman who owned the studio and it was a way to get rid of me for thirty minutes. I also begged a lot, and one of my favorite tv shows was Angelina Ballerina.

Q: Is there a certain dancer that inspires you?

A: Nina Pavlova has always been a big inspiration for me because of what she was able to accomplish and all of her struggles.

(In her dance career, Nina Pavlova performed many large roles such as The Nutcracker, Swan Lake, Sleeping Beauty, Spartacus, and many more. She performed all around the world. Some of the locations being Greece, Poland, Vietnam, Bulgaria, Spain, and Egypt. Pavlova has been teaching for over 21 years and is currently a member of the Royal Academy of Dance.)

Q: Do you have a specific song that encourages you to dance?

A: Any song that has a great beat to it. I will immediately start choreographing in my head. Just the other day I was watching a TV commercial and the song they used sounded interesting. I looked up the song and now I have a dance half choreographed to it. I plan on competing with later in the season.

Q: What studio do you attend for classes, and how long have you danced there?

A: I currently dance at Encore Dance Studio and I've been there for eight years, but I danced at Maddox Dance Studio for two years before that.

Q: How many times a week do you practice?

A: I have dance practice Monday-Thursday and I have one class a day, except for on Thursdays when I have two classes.

Q: How long are your practices?

A: Practices vary between 45 minutes to 90 minutes.

Q: Do you teach at any studio?

A: I do teach at Encore this year, and I also intern. I currently teach a tumbling class, and assist with three that I will be taking over in April. I will also be taking over jazz, tap, and ballet classes in April as well.

Q: Do you participate in any competitions?

A: This year I will be competing at a few of the local competitions, such as "Move and Jump" with the Encore Dance Team this year.

Q: Do you want to pursue a career in dancing?

A: I have considered this. I may get a minor in dance during college, but I will continue taking classes. My goal is to learn aerial silks during college, and possibly ballroom dancing.

Q: What is your favorite aspect of dancing?

A: My favorite aspect of dancing is by far the benefits and how fun it is. Dancing works every muscle in your body, and you can gain a lot from dancing that benefit you in many ways. It's also very fun so you don't even realize you're actually working out, which is awesome!

DANA OTTEM

ALL SHE WANTS TO DO IS DANCE

Many young girls dream of becoming a ballerina. They want to dance around on tiptoe in a big, poofy, pink tutu and impress crowds with a jeté or an arabesque. Sophomore Dana Ottem got more than the dream, she got the reality. To do this, she had to take advantage of an opportunity and complete a lot of hard work.

Ottem's mother brought up the idea of putting her in dance classes with her friends when she was ten years old. She loved the idea and wanted to try dancing. The bonus was that she could socialize, too.

Her mom wanted to find a sport that Ottem would not only be good at but enjoy, too. After trying softball she realized it wasn't for her, but as soon as she stepped out on the dance floor it just felt like the right fit.

The first classes Ottem was enrolled in were tumbling and a tap and jazz class. She absolutely loved them! From then on, her mom couldn't get her to stop dancing around the house.

Ottem joined more and more classes as her dancing career went on. Her current classes include lyrical, which is a more expressive type of dance, tumbling, two jazz classes, and ballet, where she has graduated to en pointe (in which a ballet dancer supports all body weight on the tips of fully extended feet). Ottem is also an intern and teaches a tumbling class on her own.

Not only is Ottem a student and teacher of dance, she is also a competitor. She has been on the Encore Dance Studio competition team for about five years. She has taken solos, duos, and group dances to competition and has won first place more than once. Ottem has performed three solos and is working on her fourth.

Lyrical, Ottem's favorite kind of dance, is a combination of ballet and jazz.

"The cool thing about lyrical is that you can put your own feeling into the routine. Personally, I can relate to it and put my feelings into it," she said.

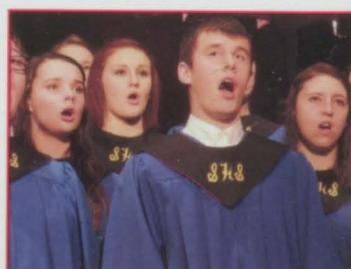

In Ottem's spare time, she dances at her studio. She does make time for school activities—during her freshman year she participated in the Seaside Sapphires Dance Team. She has been a member of the Cheer Club on her freshman and sophomore year. She plans to continue cheer until she graduates.

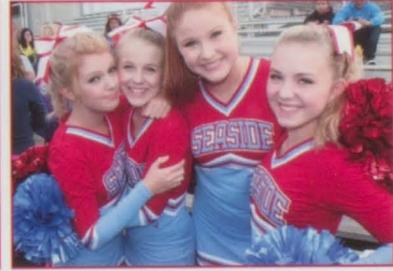

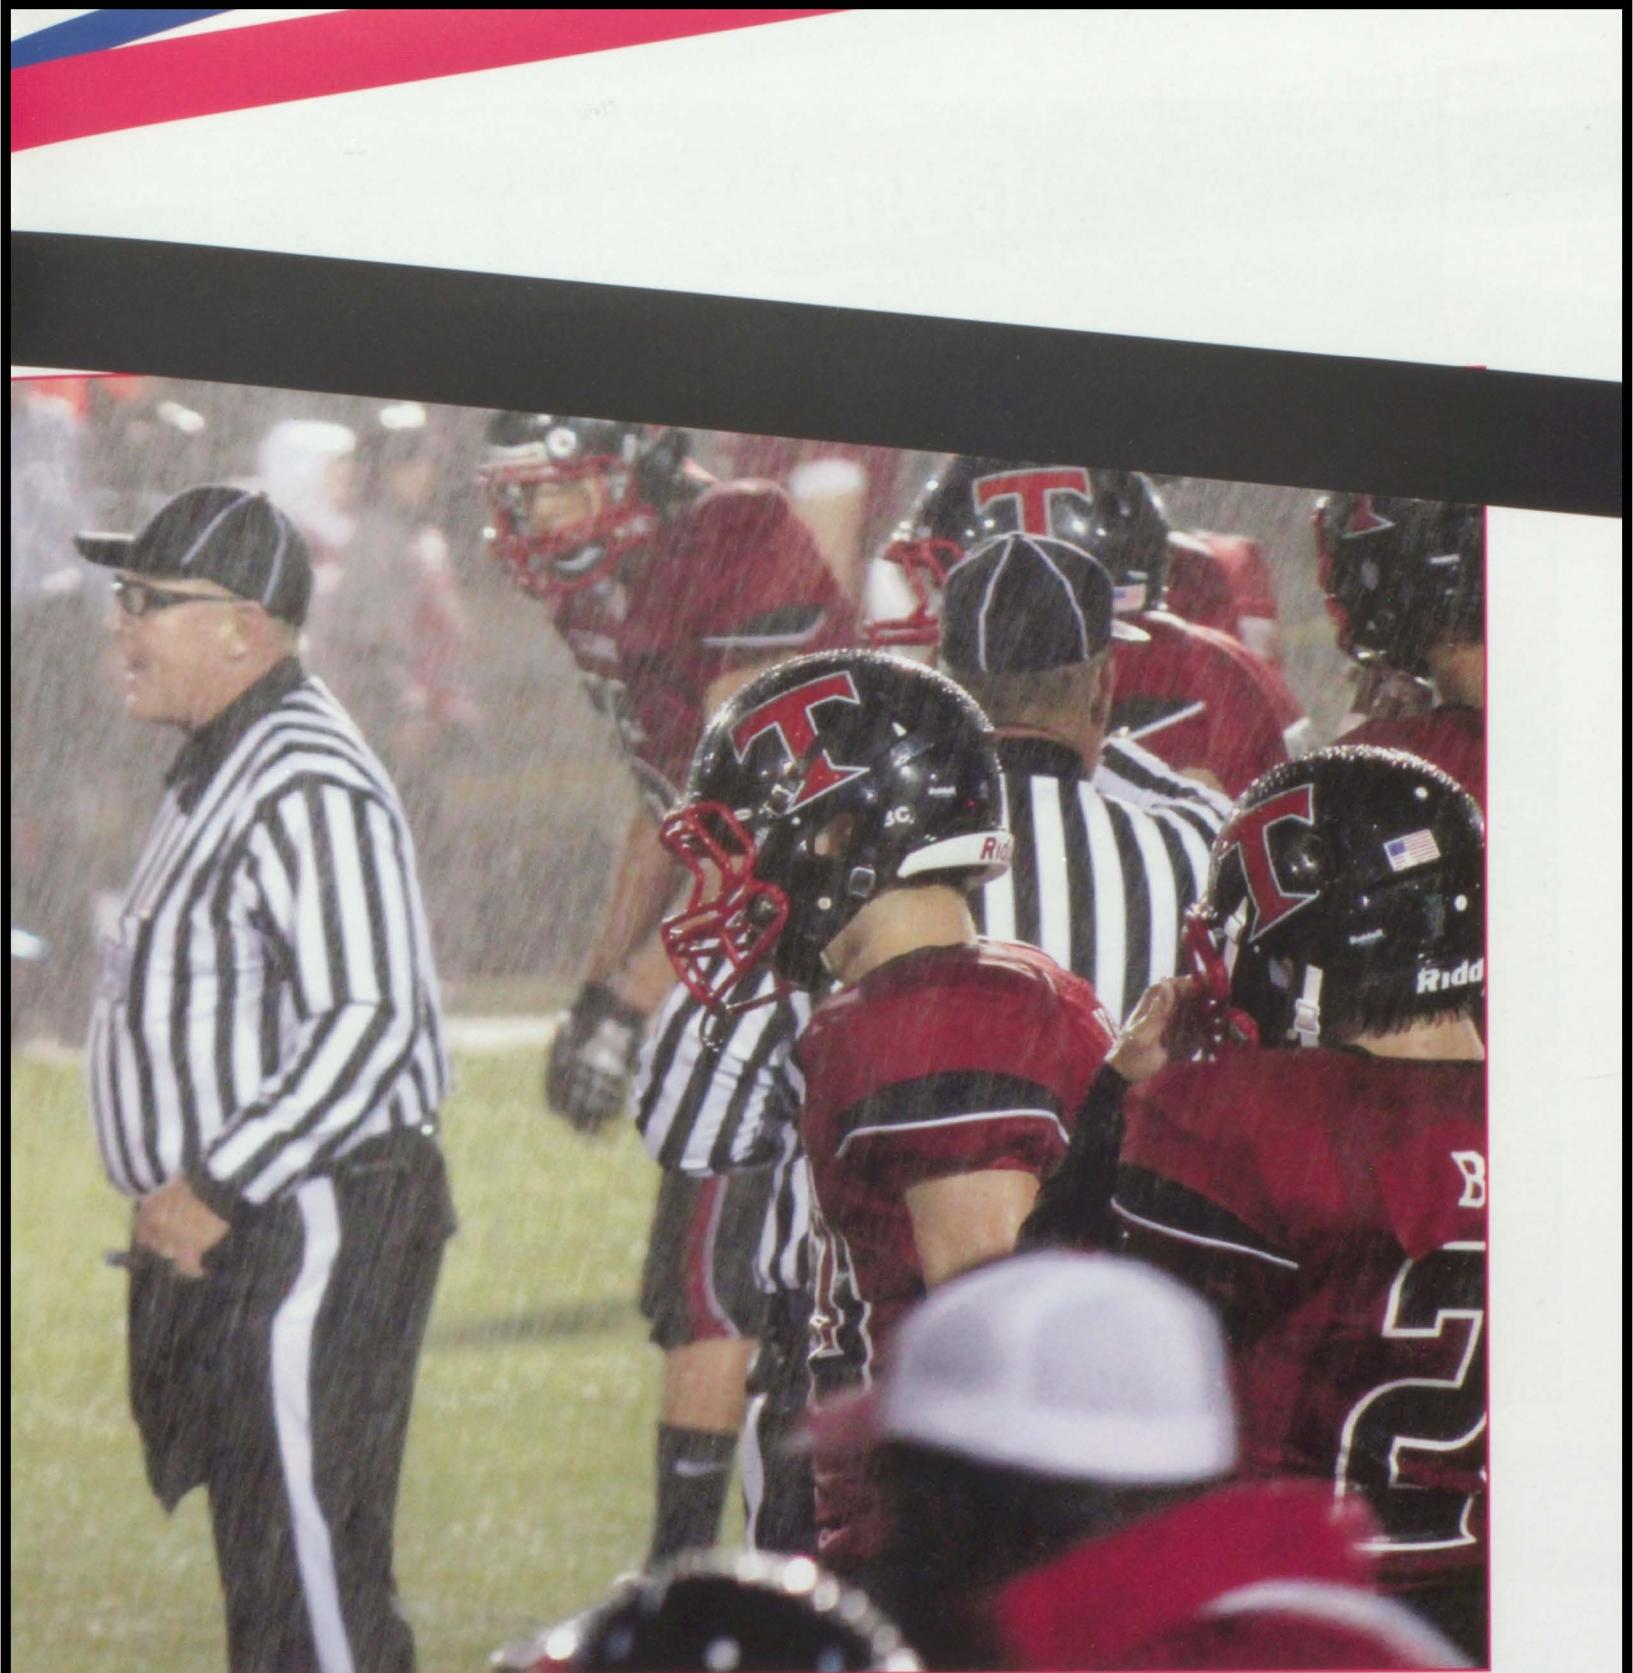

During her time on the dance team she has spent a lot of her time competing at nearby competitions and even more time practicing. When Ottem was in the Seaside Cheer Club, she spent almost every day practicing to perform and cheer on our football team. She spent most of her time cheering on the sidelines and even got to perform at halftime every other week.

"I hope to keep dancing after high school. I could dance in college or hopefully even professionally."

Dana Ottem wears the ballet shoes that so many children wish for, but that kind of time, dedication, and hard work is not easy. Luckily, she loves it!

HOW DO YOU PREPARE FOR A GAME?

KENZIE SKYLES, SENIOR

"I love to do the 'WOP.' It's a very funny dance and it helps motivate other people. I am sure they enjoy watching me perform it before games."

TENNAYA CARR, JUNIOR

"I do not have any crazy dances or any rituals. I just try and focus on the little things."

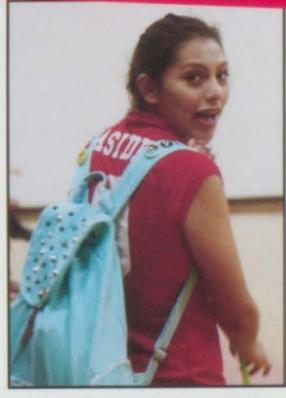

LUCY BODNER, FRESHMAN

"I just motivate myself, hoping to have a successful game. Sometimes I do jumping jacks to get rid of my nerves."

BRITTANY WEST, SOPHOMORE

"I set goals for the game to motivate myself to do my best."

TANIA MARTINEZ, SOPHOMORE

"There is a team cheer we do before each game that goes 'Go big or go home!' and that motivates me as well as the rest of the team."

CHEER

This cheer season was a huge success! We had a lovely group of ladies ready to show off their school spirit! The group all worked hard in practice and on the field, firing up the crowd and keeping spirits high! Everyone loved cheering along with our leaders. The squad was led by Brianna Nofield, Angelique Colley, and Taylor Walsh who, for their Pacifica project, are working to raise money for next year's squad to be able to attend all of our away games as well as other advantages such as uniforms and accessories.

CAPTAINS' REPORT

SENIOR ANGELIQUE COLLEY

Angelique Colley has been in the cheer program since she was a freshman. "This year we did something different where we had one captain and two co-captains. The co-captains worked with committees like locker decorations and run-throughs. I mostly worked with the team at practices and games.

Being captain taught me a lot about what it takes to keep a team of a variety of people together.

SENIOR TAYLOR WALSH

"Working to keep the team together," Taylor Walsh says, "is the toughest job as a captain." She has been performing her whole life and cheerleading is a great way for her to show off her skills. Walsh feels that being a team captain has made her a more confident person as well given her better leadership skills.

SENIOR BRIANNA NOFIELD

Brianna Nofield has cheered all four years of high school. Leadership is what she thinks is the biggest responsibility of being a cheer captain. "Not only are you leading the crowd, but the cheer team as well." Nofield was glad to have made so many life-long friends and memories as a cheer captain.

1. The whole squad keeps spirits sky high, even through the rain!

2. The squad cheer their hearts out!

3. Savannah Cozart, Whitney McQuilliams, Alyssa Danen, Kristina Martin, and Maddy Quicke take a moment to check out the runway during a pep assembly.

4. Whitney McQuilliams, Taylor Walsh, Anna Kaim, Brianna Nofield, and Chyanne Hinsley encourage the crowd to rally and keep cheering.

5. It takes teamwork to hold the "Seaside Seagulls" banner.

Jose Contreras grew up watching soccer on tv and decided in eighth grade he would give it a try. His best memory from this season is when the team was warming up for a game and a lightening storm started. They sat in the gym for two hours, and the roof began to leak. They had to run across the school to find out where their bus had gone. They were soaking wet, but luckily, they got to go to Red Robin for dinner.

Taylor Barnes enjoys joking around with his team mates and just having fun before a game. Being loose and relaxed before a game keeps him from being nervous. His favorite thing about soccer is how competitive it is. Taylor's long term goal is to keep playing soccer and eventually play in college.

Sonny Davis's favorite memory from soccer was when they went to a tournament in Salem during the summer. He also enjoyed when the entire team traveled to Cascade to play their first game of the season and it was canceled because of a lightning storm. He also said that usually Chappy would yell at someone for messing around and Cameron Sorter and Sonny always hugged as a pre-game ritual.

1: Keeping each other company at a cold Seaside home game, Brent Walsh, Sam Hinton, Soren Johansson and Dylan Wallis watch their team from the bench. 2: With perfect form, Shane Fritter prepares for a big kick. 3: Leaping to the ball, David Ward prevents a goal.

The 2013 Cross Country season was remarkable. Throughout the fall the team strived for a well conditioned, strong, and mentally tough team. Both boys and girls pushed themselves through miles and miles of concrete, grass, and sand. Under Coaches Branson, Januik, and Ellingson the Gulls' season was bound for success. As the meets approached, the boys and girls showed signs of improvement during practice. Whether it was in the 400 meter sprints or in the long four mile runs, each individual's time decreased. It seemed in nearly every meet either the team came home with some hardware or one of the individuals placed. The girls placed first in districts and went to the state championship. The boys barely missed the mark and got third in districts.

DANCE TEAM

Savannah Cozart, Jacqueline Hernandez, Maqui Walgren, Kaja Havrenek, Anna Kaim, Genesis Chavez, Taylor Walsh, and Hannah Tryon.

This year's Seaside Sapphires Dance Team has gone through some tough changes. Getting a new coach, dealing with multiple injuries, and welcoming a whole new squad of incoming dancers proved to be difficult, but the Seaside Sapphires continued to shine. Laughter, tears, smiles, and jokes were shared throughout the season, and each girl walked out with a strong group of new friends. Confidence and self assurance were learned while performing at the girls and boys basketball games. Overall, this years dance team performances and practices were a success.

I LIKE TO MOVE IT MOVE IT

TEAM MVPS

Sophomores Jacqueline Hernandez and Shyanne Dougherty were made this year's Dance MVPS. This means they consistently showered the team with encouragement and positive vibes. They bring happiness, spirit, and keep everyone motivated. They are a crucial part of what keeps the team enthusiastic about dancing.

TEAM CAPTAINS

Seniors Hannah Tryon and Maqui Walgren are great team captains. With their phenomenal leadership skills and supportive attitude, these ladies do a stellar job of keeping the dance team members in line. Spending time together and moving forward as a team is crucial to keep the Sapphires shining bright.

THE MUSICAL MASTERMINDS

SING IT LOUD, SING IT PROUD!

CHOIR

Out with the old and in with the new is a very accurate phrase to describe this school year. The choir students quickly bonded with Ms. Unger, the new choir teacher, and they helped each other adjust to the new changes. Preparing for a concert in just three months under the guidance of a new teacher was overwhelming, but it was a chance for everyone to step up and embrace the challenge. Getting started may have proved to be difficult, but when you combine a choir teacher who loves to teach and students that are eager to sing, wonderful things can happen. Exceeding everyone's expectations at their first concert, the choir students found support in their newfound teacher and friend.

WHAT DOES YOUR HEART SING?

With a song-bird like, beautiful soprano voice, Hannah is a prime example of a dedicated singer. Hannah's favorite song is 'Homeward Bound' because it was the last song she sang at her old school. To Hannah, music is a form of expression; it's a place she can turn to where she's not judged and she can be herself, because the only thing that's surrounding her are the notes.

Becca might seem quiet and shy, but her singing voice is loud and proud! Becca's most favorite and funny memories were back when Mr. White taught choir and he would show the class countless videos and pictures of his cats. To her, music is a way to express herself, a mood booster, and a way to bring more fun and energy into her life.

Jake Malone has come so far since he first started choir. His singing has become strong and confident. Music means nearly half the world to Jake, and he says it's something he'd definitely look forward to working on much more in the future. Jake played the role of Danny Zuko in the school production of Grease in which he wowed the crowd with his amazing musical abilities.

ROBOTICS

This year our CYBORGs competed in two different events: Girls' Generation and a district competition. Girls' Generation is a competition in which only female engineers are allowed to participate from each team. Austin Calder and Noah Clark were the only male students that attended this competition. The competing girls included: Savannah Cozart, Caitlynn Howe, Jocee Jones, Chyanne Lyon, Jordan Miller, and Phoenix Miller.

Then the CYBORGs went into build season. At the end of six tiresome weeks full of trial and error they had their robot, A.U.S.T.I.N. The team packed up their creation and waited.

Finally after weeks of waiting, competition came. For the entire first day the robot performed well, staying in between first and second place. Then A.U.S.T.I.N. was rammed by another team and the shooter broke. In the end, A.U.S.T.I.N. got to compete in the finals. The students who competed were: Noah Clark, Austin Calder, Savannah Cozart, Zoe Fackler, Austin Milliren, Elijah Hirsch, and Eliot Voll. This year was the best our robotics team has even seen. Every year our team seems to impress us more and more.

FRESHMAN STACIE OSTERLUND

In 2011, a month before her birthday, Freshman Stacie Osterlund found out she had a tumor in her brain. She had been sick almost every day, so her mother decided to take her to the hospital. They were told about the tumor, and that Osterlund would have to undergo surgery to remove it.

Before her brain surgery, she was really scared because she had never been through surgery before. After the tumor was removed, it was sent to a lab so they could do a biopsy on it. When the results came back, it showed that the tumor was malignant, which meant she had brain cancer.

When she found this out, it didn't take her long to understand it. "It really only took me a few minutes to process that I had cancer," she said.

Osterlund's mom was there to support her most of the time during her treatment, but she mainly hung out with her mom's side of the family.

When she attended school, she didn't want to wear a hat because it made her feel uncomfortable, but she did any way. She also didn't want to come to school because she always felt sick, which was a side effect of her cancer treatment. When Osterlund found out that she didn't have cancer anymore, she was really happy but upset at the same time because another girl, Jalene Luengas, did not survive her cancer. Jalene was a girl that also attended Broadway Middle School with Osterlund, and had bone marrow cancer. They became very close friends when they were both in the hospital around the same time.

"Sometimes I wish that it was me and not Jalene that died, but I'm still happy."

Osterlund's journey was very difficult, but she made it through. Now she is able to enjoy being a happy, healthy high school student.

ENGLISH TEACHER MARK MIZELL

Last year, beloved English Teacher Mark Mizell found out he had throat cancer. Thankfully, before the cancer spread into his lungs, the doctors caught it. Since it was detected early, he didn't have to do chemotherapy, all he had to do was radiation. Radiation is where the doctors go inside of the patient with an instrument that resembles a microscope and it zaps where the cancer is forming.

Mizell decided to go to the doctor when he noticed that he had a big lump on his neck. He was sent to several different doctors because none of them knew what it was. When Mizell got sent to OHSU in Portland, the doctor took one look at his neck and told him he had cancer. Mr. and Mrs. Mizell were especially scared because Mrs. Mizell's sister passed away from lung cancer.

The doctor did a PET scan on Mizell to find out where the cancerous cells were located. The only place that they found cancer was his throat. Since he had to have surgery, heal from that, and then undergo radiation, he had to take a long break from teaching. He missed winter and spring term, and finished healing over the summer.

When Mizell had his operation done, he had to have a feeding tube down his nose, since it would hurt his throat to eat real food. When he got home, his daughter immediately got him out and walking.

At first Mizell wasn't sure about going out for walks so he asked his daughter, "Do you really want to be seen with a middle aged bald guy with a feeding tube down his nose?"

His daughter replied, "Dad, get over it."

While Mizell was gone, he had support from his friends, family, and students. "I will never, ever forget all of the people who had my back."

VOYAGE ACROSS THE SEA

FRESHMAN MICA PARANAL

Many people have had to move across town or to another state, but Mica Paranal had to move across an ocean! Last year, when she turned 13, her parents decided to move to Seaside from the Philippines. She had to learn a whole new language and adapt to the coastal life here in Seaside.

In the Philippines, Paranal would have attended the Pasa City Elementary school, which is very different from Seaside High school. There is no middle school in Pasa City, so elementary school is grades 1-6 and high school is 7-12th grade. The classes usually taken there are technology, cooking, math, and Filipino. She would do volleyball and track and field back, too. Once she moved, Paranal was still able to play volleyball, as well as other sports.

The homework was easier for Paranal back in Pasa City because it was easier for her to understand her language. After the move, it was hard for her to understand and concentrate because she barely knew English.

As time went on, she started to learn more and comprehend the lessons better. Something she noticed about herself was that when she moved to Seaside, her personality changed, but her family has been supportive of her.

Back in the Philippines, she was loud and talkative, but in Seaside she became quiet and shy. She only has a few members of her family here in the U.S. Her aunt and uncle live in Washington, her grandfather lives in Gearhart, her cousin in Warrenton, and of course her parents with her here in Seaside. Her family has given her so much support and has helped her in her studies.

Rachel, is Paranal's best friend. They have known each other for three years. Each day they have grown closer and closer to each other,

"She is kind and funny and always there for me" said Paranal.

Although she really likes it here, Paranal would like to go back to the Philippines because she misses her friends and extended family. Even though they are thousands of miles apart, it doesn't keep her from knowing what's going on in their lives. She keeps in touch through the phone and Facebook. She had a hard time at the beginning, because of the challenge of learning a new language and socializing with new people, but she managed to pull through and overcome those difficulties and adapt to her new culture.

FRESHMAN VINCE IGITOL

One might think that it would be difficult to adapt to moving across the world, but Vince Igitol achieved that challenge and now loves to live here in Seaside. He moved here for the opportunities of a better future. Igitol moved from the Island of Saipan and now lives in a new totally different environment.

Igitol and his family moved here to Seaside in 2008. At first, Igitol was sad because he had to leave his grandparents behind to start a new life. Time passed and he realized that his family moved to the U.S. so he could have a better future.

Igitol would like to go back to Saipan just for a while and visit his family.

"I would like to go back to visit my family, but not to stay there because there's more opportunities for me here than back home," Igitol said.

In spite of the fact that his family and him moved across the globe, they haven't changed their cultural traditions. Igitol's family still do traditional things on special occasions; for example going to church on Sundays, family gatherings, birthdays, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Christening, and Novenas.

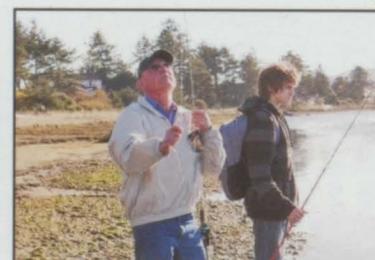

Now Igitol is a little quieter than he used to be in Saipan, and he doesn't know why, maybe because at first he didn't know that much about his new home.

The environment of Seaside and Saipan are very close. The weather, buildings, and the people are the main changes here. Saipan is a day ahead, so if it's day here it's night there. The schools over there are similar to the ones here, the only difference is that Seaside is more advanced on some topics than Saipan.

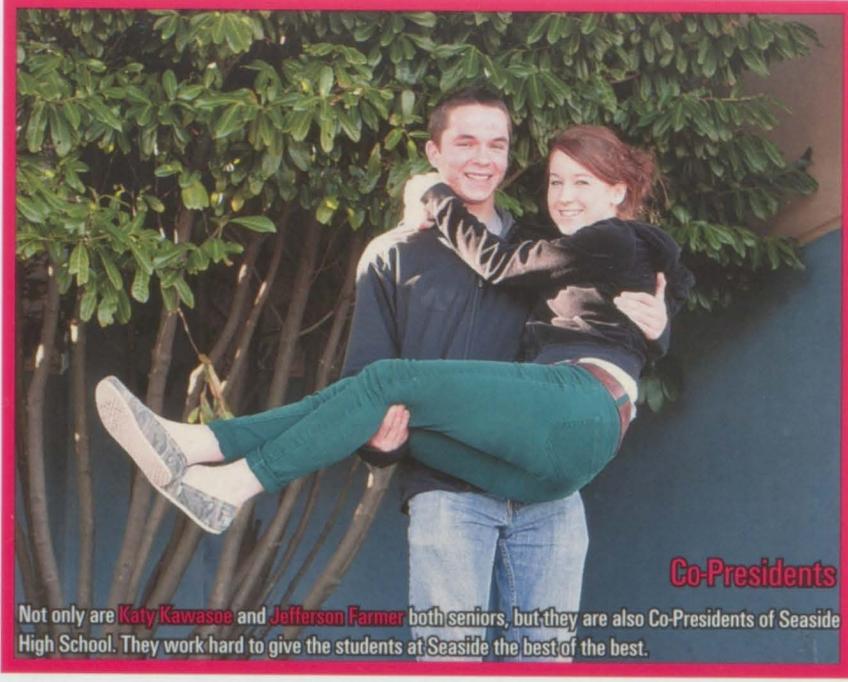

It would be hard to imagine how difficult it must be for someone to move from a different country and have to learn a new language. For Igitol, it was tough at the beginning, but as the days moved on, he learned that it was the best for his future, and he is thankful his parents let him have these opportunities.

fyi The Republic of Philippines (where Mica is from) is a sovereign island country surrounded by the Pacific Ocean. Taiwan lies north, Vietnam is to the west, and to the south are other islands of Indonesia. The Island of Saipan (Vince's birthplace) is the largest island of the Northern Mariana Islands, an unincorporated territory of the United States in the Pacific Ocean.

DESIGNING THE FUTURE

COSTUME DESIGN CLUB

JUNIOR GABRIELLE MARSTON

Lending a hand to someone in need is a great way to show you care for other people. However, Junior Gabrielle Marston did not only help one person, she was one of many who helped a whole community.

In her sophomore year, Gabrielle Marston dedicated her whole spring break to make a difference and help others in John Day, Oregon. Along with her missions group, she set out for a life-changing experience.

"I have always been involved with my church community and when the opportunity came I jumped at it. My youth pastor invited me to John Day to help out the local community. I want to make a difference by showing what He has done in my life," said Marston.

The mission trip took place in the desert side of a small town named John Day in central Oregon, a town known for its fossil beds. Marston and her mission group helped the people living in poverty. They helped by chopping wood for the local community, fixing an elderly woman's fence, building trash can receptacles, and cleaning up and painting the fairgrounds in John Day. For most people, preparing themselves for this type of work requires physical and mental preparation. Regardless of how much they can try to imagine what to expect Marston said that it's hard to predict the experience. She felt God has used her in many ways for which she could not prepare herself. Above all, she feels successful about her mission trip because it gave her a change of heart for small communities similar to her own, as well as an overall outstanding experience. Marston, her team leader, and four others made the lives of ordinary people feel special and important.

After this experience, Marston wanted to continue to help others.

"After my mission trip, I came home and dedicated myself to helping the local mobile home park, Pine Cove."

Before her mission trips, Marston struggled to decide whether to spend her entire spring break over in John Day. Nonetheless, she made her final decision and decided to participate in the trip.

When she first arrived at her destination, she automatically knew she had made the right choice. Although Marston struggled with a lack of sleep during the week because of all the manual work she had to do, she persevered, and in the end it meant a great deal to the people in John Day.

"I learned that if I work really hard God will bless me with better opportunities. I discovered I can make a difference if I trust that God can use me in these amazing ways."

Marston is thankful that she was able to build relationships and simply help others in the community. The best thing about going on the trip was the feeling of accomplishment after a long day of hard work.

MISSION POSSIBLE

"I was able to feel like I was actually making a difference in someone else's life."

When asked what she would have done differently, Marston said she would have done nothing different. It was such a great journey for her that she couldn't think of changing one bit of it. She mentioned that she gained new skills such as cutting wood and using tools proficiently.

Marston's generosity does not end with this trip. She will attend the John Day mission trip this spring break and wishes to attend a college that specializes in community outreach and mission trips.

Marston's advice for people who wish to attend a mission trip is to enjoy themselves.

"It is a lot of fun and you will gain many new memories and build compassion for others. I really believe that if you have an opportunity to go on a missions trip, you should really try it out."

SENIOR MADISON DIERICKX

Madison Dierickx, Mackenzie Skyles, and Astoria High School student Nallely Velazques traveled to Africa with one goal in mind: Help make things better. The girls reached their goal but they underwent their own personal transformation in the process.

Dierickx had dreamed of going to Africa and helping out since she was ten years old. She did not realize at the time that it would cost so much money to go the distance. The funds to make her dream happen did not simply show up at Dierickx's front door. She had to work to raise the money.

"I used my own money and even hosted a car wash with my friends Kenzie Skyles and Kaitlyn Cook to raise funds. A lot of the money for the trip came from my family, friends, and especially my parents."

The plane tickets alone cost thousands of dollars, but in early January Dierickx's hard work paid off.

When the small dedicated team arrived in Tanzania, they decided that they would focus all of their energy on the community of Mango. They figured that improving the Mango's only grade school would make the greatest impact on the community.

Dierickx realized how valuable the school was when she noticed how enthusiastic the students were.

"The grade school had a total of eight small classrooms that had to accommodate four hundred students, kindergarten through fifth grade."

Regardless of overcrowding, no child ever complained but instead smiled when they saw the faces of the three girls.

The first step to their master restoration plan was to remove all of the shards of glass that should never be present in a grade school. Then they vigorously cleaned until the walls and floors shined, which was not a one day process.

"The first things we donated to the school were brooms."

From day one the brooms were put to use.

"A broom may not sound like much, but before we donated the brooms the school used leaves to sweep the classrooms."

After that the painting began.

When Dierickx was not working on the school she was interacting with the children of Mango. She played soccer and also managed to teach many curious children conversational English. One specific girl, Lucy, stole Dierickx's heart.

"I met Lucy and immediately fell in love with her. I knew I could not let her down. Right then, the only thing that mattered to me was Lucy's happiness."

All of the girls made it their personal objective to make as many children smile as possible, and according to Dierickx that was piece of cake.

"A simple hello would light up a child's face. Every moment was meaningful," she explained.

When the two week adventure was nearing its end, the team was ready to fly home and hug their families. Before they left they decided to donate the remaining cash they had saved to Able and Disabled, a school nearby that taught without discriminating against children with disabilities. The entire team admired how every child was treated equally there.

Now that Dierickx is back in Seaside she sees life a little differently. Dierickx appreciates all the advantages Seaside has to offer, and tries not to worry about the one big concern around here: safety. She says that if the fear of earthquakes and tsunamis were not a factor Seaside would be golden.

"The ocean is both a beautiful blessing, that we often take for granted, and a curse. And even though the bond for the new school did not pass, we will survive."

Dierickx's plan for the near future is go to a four-year University in Seattle. She also really loves the idea of joining the Peace Corps after she graduates.

For Dierickx the question is not 'if' she will be traveling to Africa again, but 'when' will she be going back.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

PACIFICA PROJECTS

Every year, Seaside High School seniors volunteer fifty hours of their time to give back to the community. This is also a graduation requirement. There is a wide variety of different, creative ways to volunteer. Some students mentor elementary or middle school students, some help out with the Easter Egg Hunt at Sunset Parks and Recreation, and some serve meals at different shelter homes. No act of kindness is ever too small. Everything these students do to help out is greatly appreciated by the community and the individuals who benefit from their work. Volunteering allows seniors get a sense of what it's like to serve others, to help strengthen the community that has been so supportive of them, and it's a great way to gain life skills that are needed to be successful after high school.

1. Getting crafty! Yasmine Morris shows off her glitter skills as she works with early elementary children.
2. Celeste Barriga helps a young boy read a science magazine.
3. Hanna Schroeder assists a student as she recites the alphabet.

MARTIN TRUTANICH & ANDREW WRIGHT VOLUNTEERS AT EVERGREEN CEMETERY

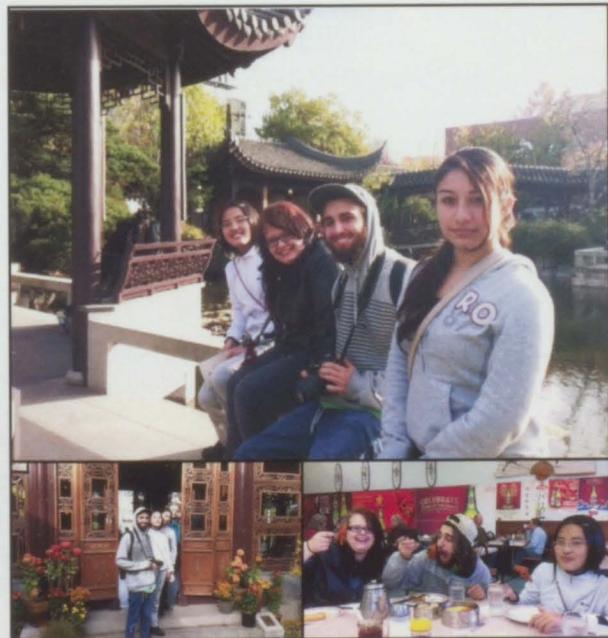

"For our Pacifica project we are restoring gravestones and performing grounds-keeping tasks at the Evergreen Cemetery south of Seaside. We are doing this to show respect to the former residents of the town that has treated us so well. We've made a lot of progress, but aim to restore all six hundred plus gravestones and remove all sticks and leaves from the grounds. The project has been immeasurably rewarding for both of us, in both mind and spirit. We hope to recruit at least two juniors to carry on the task next year," said Trutanich.

SONNY DAVIS, CHRISTIAN ANDERSON, & DAVID WARD SUMMER CHALLENGE PROGRAM WITH SURFING THE NATIONS (STN)

"Surfing the Nations is a non-profit humanitarian organization based in Wahiawa, Hawaii. We got to take part in one of STN's programs there called Feeding The Hungry (FTH) where we would provide food to those in need in the Honolulu area.

We also got the chance to spend time with the local kids in Wahiawa and help them with their homework during their after school day care.

We were there a total of 25 days and it was unlike anything I expected it to be. I had been to Hawaii before our Pacifica, but this time really opened my eyes to the world around me. Working all day at FTH was exhausting at times, but getting to connect with people who are less fortunate than I was an incredible experience. Being a part of STN this summer made me so grateful for everything I have and I no longer take things for granted. I met so many great people during our Pacifica and made so many memories that I will never forget," said Davis.

YIJIE CHENG (WITH SENIORS JOJO MILLER, ANDREW TROTT, AND SOPHOMORE JACQUELINE HERNANDEZ) CHINESE CLUB

Yijie Cheng decided to start a new club for her Pacifica project. The Chinese club studied different aspects of Chinese culture, including language and food. One of their field trips was to Chinatown in Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Haber-Lehigh chaperoned the field trip, though Mr. Chambers has also assisted Cheng as a faculty advisor. One highlight of the field trip was the meal they shared—the food was delicious, though there were a few surprised vegetarians after the meal when the menu items were translated into English!

YOU DON'T TAKE A PHOTOGRAPH. YOU MAKE IT.

Tyler Dodson, a normal teenager by day, and a talented photographer by night. Tyler Dodson is a junior and likes to dirt bike, hike, and take photographs of wildlife.

Dodson has shuffled between public school and homeschooling. He started coming to public school during the middle of his sophomore year, after two years of homeschooling.

This transition from homeschooling to public schooling can be challenging for most teens.

"It was a shock at first, awkward because of my lack of friends, but I enjoy it a lot better than homeschool," Dodson said.

Although Dodson's adaption was difficult, he seems to be making new friends every day, and is enjoying this new transition overall.

Dodson's gift as a photographer is not something well known within the school. His photographs are captivating and breathtaking. Although Dodson does enjoy taking a good picture, he also enjoys the journey for the image. Some of his favorite photographs include Ecola Creek and an owl up in Washington.

Dodson captures images of the environment in order to pause and appreciate the things that are often taken for granted in life, such as glowing sunsets, beautiful animals, and vicious rushing rivers.

"One of my favorite things to do is to hold the shutter open when I'm taking pictures of creeks to create the wavy effect."

This effect emphasizes the flow of the river and makes it look like more of a painting than anything. It's almost as if Dodson's pictures are not realistic because of the beauty of the scenery. Dodson makes the observer want to be in the picture and experience nature's purity and magnificence.

"Sunsets are kind of cool when you get a purplish color one, it's pretty fly."

Some of these pictures can be seen on his facebook because he likes to share his gift with his friends.

In his alone time he enjoys trending on instagram, socializing with friends while increasing the number of people who have been exposed to his creative work.

There is a short acronym that Dodson's friend, Senior Katie Corliss, made up in order to make Dodson more recognizable within the social media world, called T.C.T, or Tyler Crush Tuesday.

"I took a picture on several peoples' phones in order to trend on Instagram and make a new form of Man Crush Monday."

Many people caught on to his trend and went out of their way every Tuesday to post on their social networking sites such as Facebook or Instagram. When scrolling through Facebook or Instagram, Dodson may appear randomly on the feed.

Some things that separate Dodson from other students is that he is always himself. When asked about some qualities that he attains that separates himself from other students he said, "I haven't lived here long, I used to live in Kettle Falls, Washington, and I'm not as social as everyone else, but I am getting better."

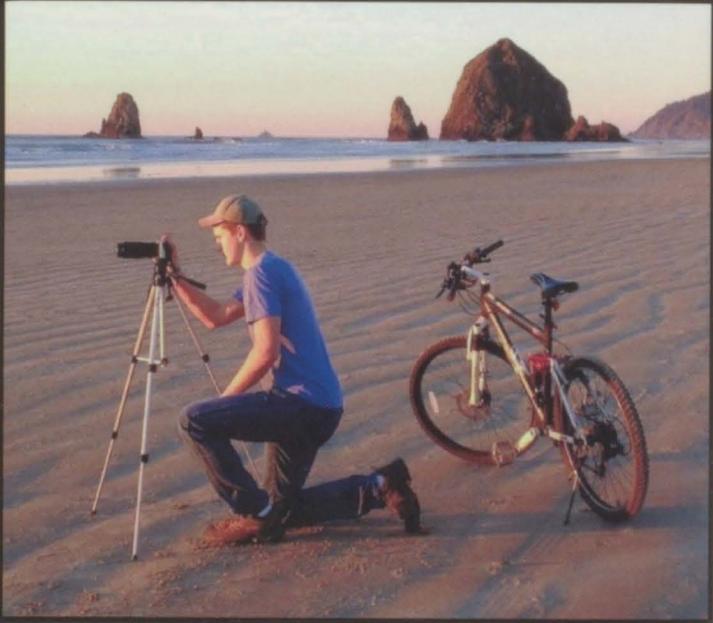

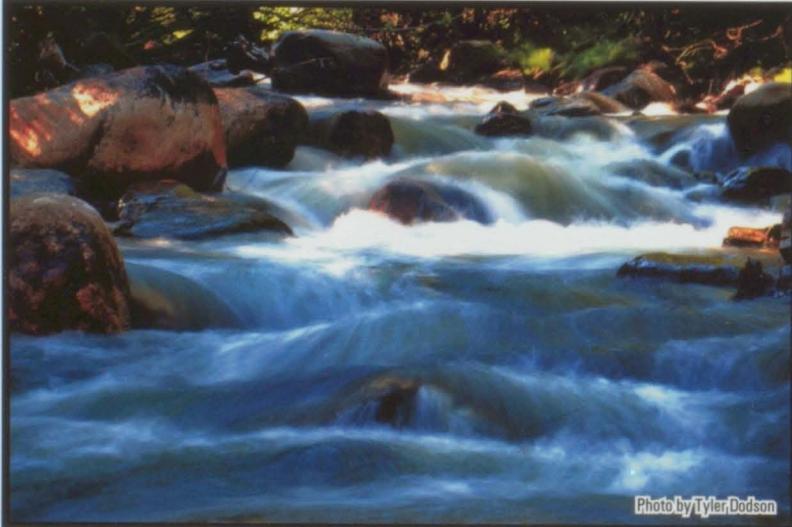

Dodson is shy at first but once people get to know him better, he becomes a very funny and loyal friend.

He hopes to eventually move to his uncle's farm in Washington and help him manage it. His other primary goal in life is to one day capture the perfect image and become well-known for his work.

Dodson's time outdoors with his camera is where he shines. Although his life is constantly changing every day, everywhere he goes he continues to capture images in his life's adventures.

MICHAEL WING

A PICTURE IS WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS.

A photographer is someone who sees the world in a 4x6, and that expression definitely describes Michael Wing. Every talent has a beginning, and for Wing it all started when he went out on a photography expedition with his grandfather one day.

"I was watching my grandfather capture all the beautiful things surrounding us," Wing explained. "When I told him I was interested in photography he went and bought me a camera. He was so supportive."

Wing's first photography experience with his new camera was simple but fun.

"I went into the kitchen and put a cup in the sink... and I took pictures of the overflowing water, and I was only ten at the time so all the smallest things seemed so interesting."

Wing said his biggest inspiration will always be his grandfather, with whom he has had a business partnership for the last five years. However, he also has a lot of respect for famous photographer Art Wolfe.

Upon asking what emotions overcome him after he captures the "perfect shot", Wing explained his excitement.

"I can't wait to print it and put it in our gallery... my grandfather and I are hosted at the Fairweather Home and Gardens, and we've been there for about eight months."

In order to keep up with demand, Wing submits a few new photos every month. Wing's preferred type of photography is nature life and animals.

"When I first started out with photography, I knew more about exposures and about the certain settings to make certain colors pop out without the background going completely white or black."

Wing explained that some of the difficult parts of being a photographer are getting to the right place at the right time, the lighting, and weather conditions are presented as a challenge when it comes to taking great photos. Wing is fond of taking photos at the beach when the sun starts to set and down by the ocean during the wintertime when the birds are migrating.

"You never really know what you're gonna find."

Wing is full of wisdom and has an amazing photographer's eye. He gets so motivated by seeing excitement in other people's photo accomplishments, especially by watching his fellow students in Mr. Brown's photography class learn all the same techniques he knows.

Wing uses a professional Canon 60D camera with a 400mm fixed lens. When doing photo shoots, he does a lot of them out in nature to make them seem more majestic.

"Photography really connects you to the environment or person you're photographing, you get a different sense of who you are and it opens up your inner creativity."

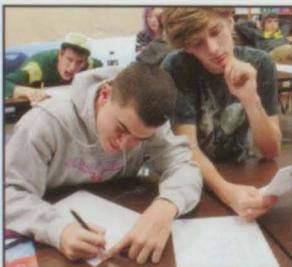

The advice Wing would give to aspiring photographers is that if they keep taking pictures, it'll keep getting better and easier.

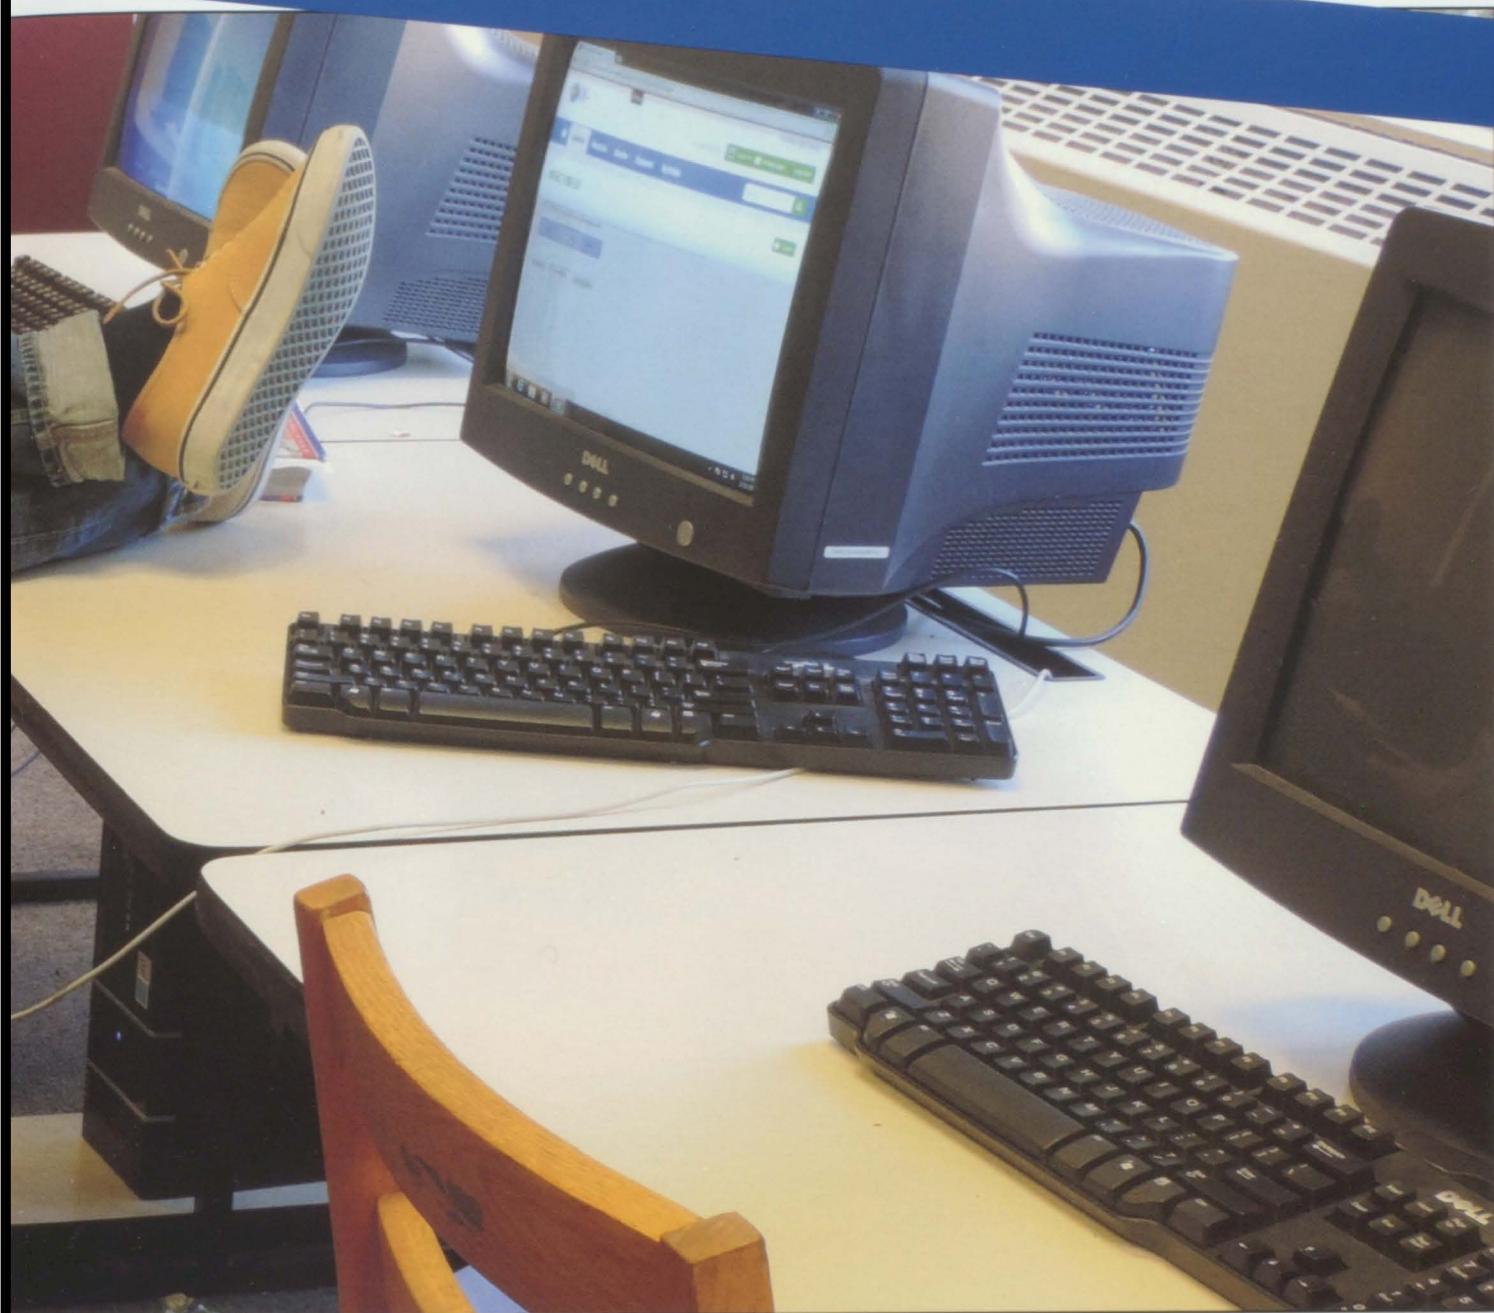

When asked if he believes in the expression that a picture is worth a thousand words, Wing explains that, "In some cases I do, because every picture tells a story and every photo's story is different."

EXCHANGE STUDENT NANA JENNET

Born in Haslev, Denmark, 16-year-old Nana Maria Jennet has come a long way to learn and grow. Seaside students had to think hard when asked who our current exchange students were. Our single exchange student immediately blended into the Seaside scene, like a chameleon in a rain forest. Jennet rarely acknowledges how rare her natural talent for making friends and being herself actually is.

Some of Jennet's friends have mentioned that she has an ability to memorize many songs and is a great dancer.

"She can sing many songs from start to finish without missing a single word. It's really cool," stated Katie Corliss.

On top of that talent, Jennet speaks a little bit of German, but speaks Danish and English fluently. She started learning English when she was only eight years old.

"In Denmark, everyone starts learning English in third grade and continues learning it until we graduate," said Jennet.

Having practiced her English for so long, Jennet thought that speaking it would not be a problem on this voyage. She did however, run into some trouble communicating when she first came to the United States.

"Everyone spoke so fast! A lot faster than my English teacher had talked to me in class."

She first considered becoming an exchange student when she was in eighth grade. At that moment Jennet did not imagine she would end up in Seaside, Oregon.

Her favorite place that she has visited has been New York City.

"I loved how busy it was, and all the lights were amazing."

She was able to visit New York City with her school in Denmark and was starstruck by the possibilities. That experience really strengthened her commitment to study in United States for a year.

Every day, Jennet has moments of confusion because her Seaside friends act in a way that she is not accustomed to. Jennet is sincere when she said that she expected all Americans to be a certain way. During her experience, her impression of the United States has evolved.

Even though she has only spent a short time at Seaside, she misses her friends and family back in Haslev. Even so, she feels like Seaside is her home and not just one long vacation.

Today Jennet is unsure about what she wants to do in the future, but she also did not hesitate when asked if she had any plans to visiting Seaside after this adventure comes to an end.

Jennet exclaimed, "Yes, definitely."

2. Jennet and her friend at a dock.

3. Jennet and her friends from Denmark goof off as they play golf.

4. Nana Jennet and Katie Corliss walk through the forest on their mission to find the perfect Christmas tree.

SOPHOMORE CHARLOTTE ROTELLA

Charlotte Rotella applied to the Rotary Exchange Program and has been granted the opportunity to study in Switzerland next year. Since she is currently a sophomore, she has had to take on many extra classes to make up for her absence next year, since she wants to graduate on time.

Rotella is very intelligent and it shows. Her current grades are important to her, which is good since there is an academic requirement in order to be in the exchange program. This year she is not only taking all the required sophomore classes, but also most junior classes to keep up with her required amount of credits. To top it off, she chose to challenge herself by taking Junior Honors English instead of regular Junior English. Somehow, she also managed to fit band into her schedule all three terms, where she plays the flute.

Another thing she loves to do is read. She reads constantly, even during class when she can get away with it!

"I'd say I read about two books every month, on average."

Ever since her parents found out about her strong interest in the Rotary Exchange Program, they have been extremely encouraging and supportive.

Besides her school workload, Rotella also has a job at the Seaside Aquarium. Many tourists love to feed the seals and take their children to observe the "touch tanks." Rotella has a lot of fun seeing their faces light up with fascination.

Switzerland is very far away from home but Rotella is more than ready for this experience. Homesickness will not stop her, because she is more than ready to go! She hopes and has faith that she will benefit greatly from living in Switzerland as an exchange student. She will learn a lot and be able to bring back irreplaceable memories.

GOING GLOBAL

SENIOR KATIE CORLISS

Katie went to Taiwan for her junior year. She was able to go because of the Rotary Exchange Program. This is Katie in a classroom working hard on a mask she made. Being able to travel to Taiwan and spend a year there is an experience she will never forget.

SENIOR KAITLYN COOK

Kaitlyn Cook spent the past school year, her junior year, in Denmark. Through the Rotary Exchange program she was able to spend a year experiencing a whole different country! She met new people, and made many new friends.

GISELLE PINCETICH

DRIVEN TO SUCCEED

Giselle Pincetich's car is easy to spot in the Seaside High School parking lot. It's a radiant '64 Dodge Polara. She bought her car last year for a great price and in an acceptable condition. Her car's condition changed when she crashed it into a pole soon after she bought it, making a noticeable dent on the side.

She knew she had to repair the dent she made on her car. She was determined to repair it herself, rather than taking it to get it fixed. So, along with some guidance from her dad, she sanded the dent again and again until it was almost completely gone.

Since then, Pincetich spends a couple of hours a week improving her car. She only does so if she has the proper resources for the task. However, it seems to be a never-ending job.

"Every other week something goes wrong. Either the car dies, or the door won't open."

Therefore it's back to adjusting and fixing the car. When something goes wrong she knows what to do now and doesn't need much help from her dad. Her grasp on how cars perform and how to adjust them has notably expanded. If someone were to open the hood of a car and ask her how everything functions she would now comprehend how everything works, and where things are.

She not only knows how everything operates, but she can also distinguish the proper tools to use for when it comes to adjusting something.

"I can give people advice now on their cars."

You could say that Pincetich's Dodge has educated her on how cars operate, so now she can analyze and repair anything that might fail. Even though Pincetich is entertained by working on her car she has the intention to sell it for a smaller car that can conveniently be driven around, but for now she embraces the adventures her car brings to her life.

In addition to working on her Dodge, Pincetich is a wrestler for the SHS team. Wrestling is not something every girl is into or willing to try, but Pincetich has always had the curiosity to try wrestling.

She was drawn into this sport, by watching her brother wrestle and ever since then she has wanted to try it herself. However when she told her parents she wanted to join the wrestling team, they thought she was absolutely crazy and didn't take her too seriously. It wasn't until she was a sophomore that she went for it and joined the wrestling team.

"The first two weeks of practice were hard, but just because it hurts doesn't mean you can quit."

Pincetich was sore and in pain, but she knew that this was beneficial to her because she was getting fit.

"Not only was I getting physically stronger, but I was getting mentally stronger too."

She gained more confidence from wrestling as time passed. This helped her since she had to work hard in order to be athletically strong like the guys she had to wrestle. Her objective this season was to get the most improved award.

"I am my own motivation," Pincetich says when it comes to reaching her goals. "I don't have time for anything... all I want to do is wrestle."

Pincetich takes this sport very seriously, therefore all her attention is focused on wrestling when it starts.

There is one pet peeve Pincetich has about wrestling though, and that's when people don't wear deodorant during practice, making the environment unpleasant. This pet peeve doesn't spoil her devotion for wrestling, she still enjoys it.

TEACHING DOGS NEW TRICKS

Whether it's a fair, parade, or a rally, Ian Thompson has been there. Starting eight years ago, Thompson has been training dogs in showmanship, agility, and obedience. He first chose this as his project in 4H. He says that his favorite part is getting to know each animal while working with them. Though he has only worked with three dogs, he enjoys learning about what they can do and how he can further their abilities. His favorite dog to work with is a purebred English Labrador Retriever named Kazoo.

"There is not another dog, that I know of, that I would rather be working with than Kazoo."

Kazoo does not belong to Thompson but he says that he has grown very attached to her. He believes that he helped her come out of her shell and further her knowledge and abilities. Kazoo's favorite exercise is the "recall", also known as having your dog come to you when called, which Thompson originally dreaded teaching her.

Thompson showed at the Clatsop County fair for showmanship, agility, and obedience. From there, he showed at the State Fair and won first in his class. He received a callback for obedience and was placed in the Top 12, which is a pretty high honor. Thompson has also competed in shows for the American Kennel Club (AKC).

Thompson says that he doesn't compete to show off what his dog can do. Rather, he does it to show himself what his dog can do. Working towards a "team" record is the ultimate goal.

Once at a show, Thompson was competing with his dog in an event that he did not practice for. He was doing a "heel off lead," which is when the dog follows the trainer through a course while a leash is not used to guide the dog. The event started and Thompson began to follow the director. At first, he took the event very seriously and began to panic when the dog did not respond to his lead. His dog sat at the beginning of the course looking very confused. Thompson continued to walk around and then asked the judge if he could call his dog. She said it was fine to do and the dog came to him. From then on, he was able to relax. His dog followed by his side for the rest of the time and the course went smoothly.

Thompson has applied for the Personal Development, Lamp of Knowledge, and the Senior Dog 4H Awards. He applied for the Personal Development Award because when he was a junior he had lung problems, which really changed his perspective. The Lamp of Knowledge Award is for being able to answer stranger's questions about their dogs. He says that it astounds him how fast he can answer their questions. He has won many awards with Kazoo: a championship ribbon in obedience, the top senior obedience team trophy, a blue ribbon in rally, a blue ribbon in agility, and a grand champion ribbon in showmanship, and a grand champion dog showman trophy.

The thing Thompson is most interested in is learning how much he has taught Kazoo.

"This class has a weird place in my heart. When I first joined 4H, the class I dreaded more than anything was showmanship."

Showmanship is similar to what might be observed on a televised dog show, without a breed preference. The judges look to see whether the handler and dog appear to be part of a team. They should work well together, move fluidly, and give an overall picture of being one unit. The handler must also be able to share information about the breed. He originally started with obedience but has grown to love showmanship more.

His 4H leader, Lorna Brandt, said, "I was extremely proud of Ian for his perseverance and his willingness to help others. Ian has become a man, taking on responsibilities, and accomplishing set goals. His work in the dog project is something he should be proud of. His growth as an individual has been a pleasure to observe."

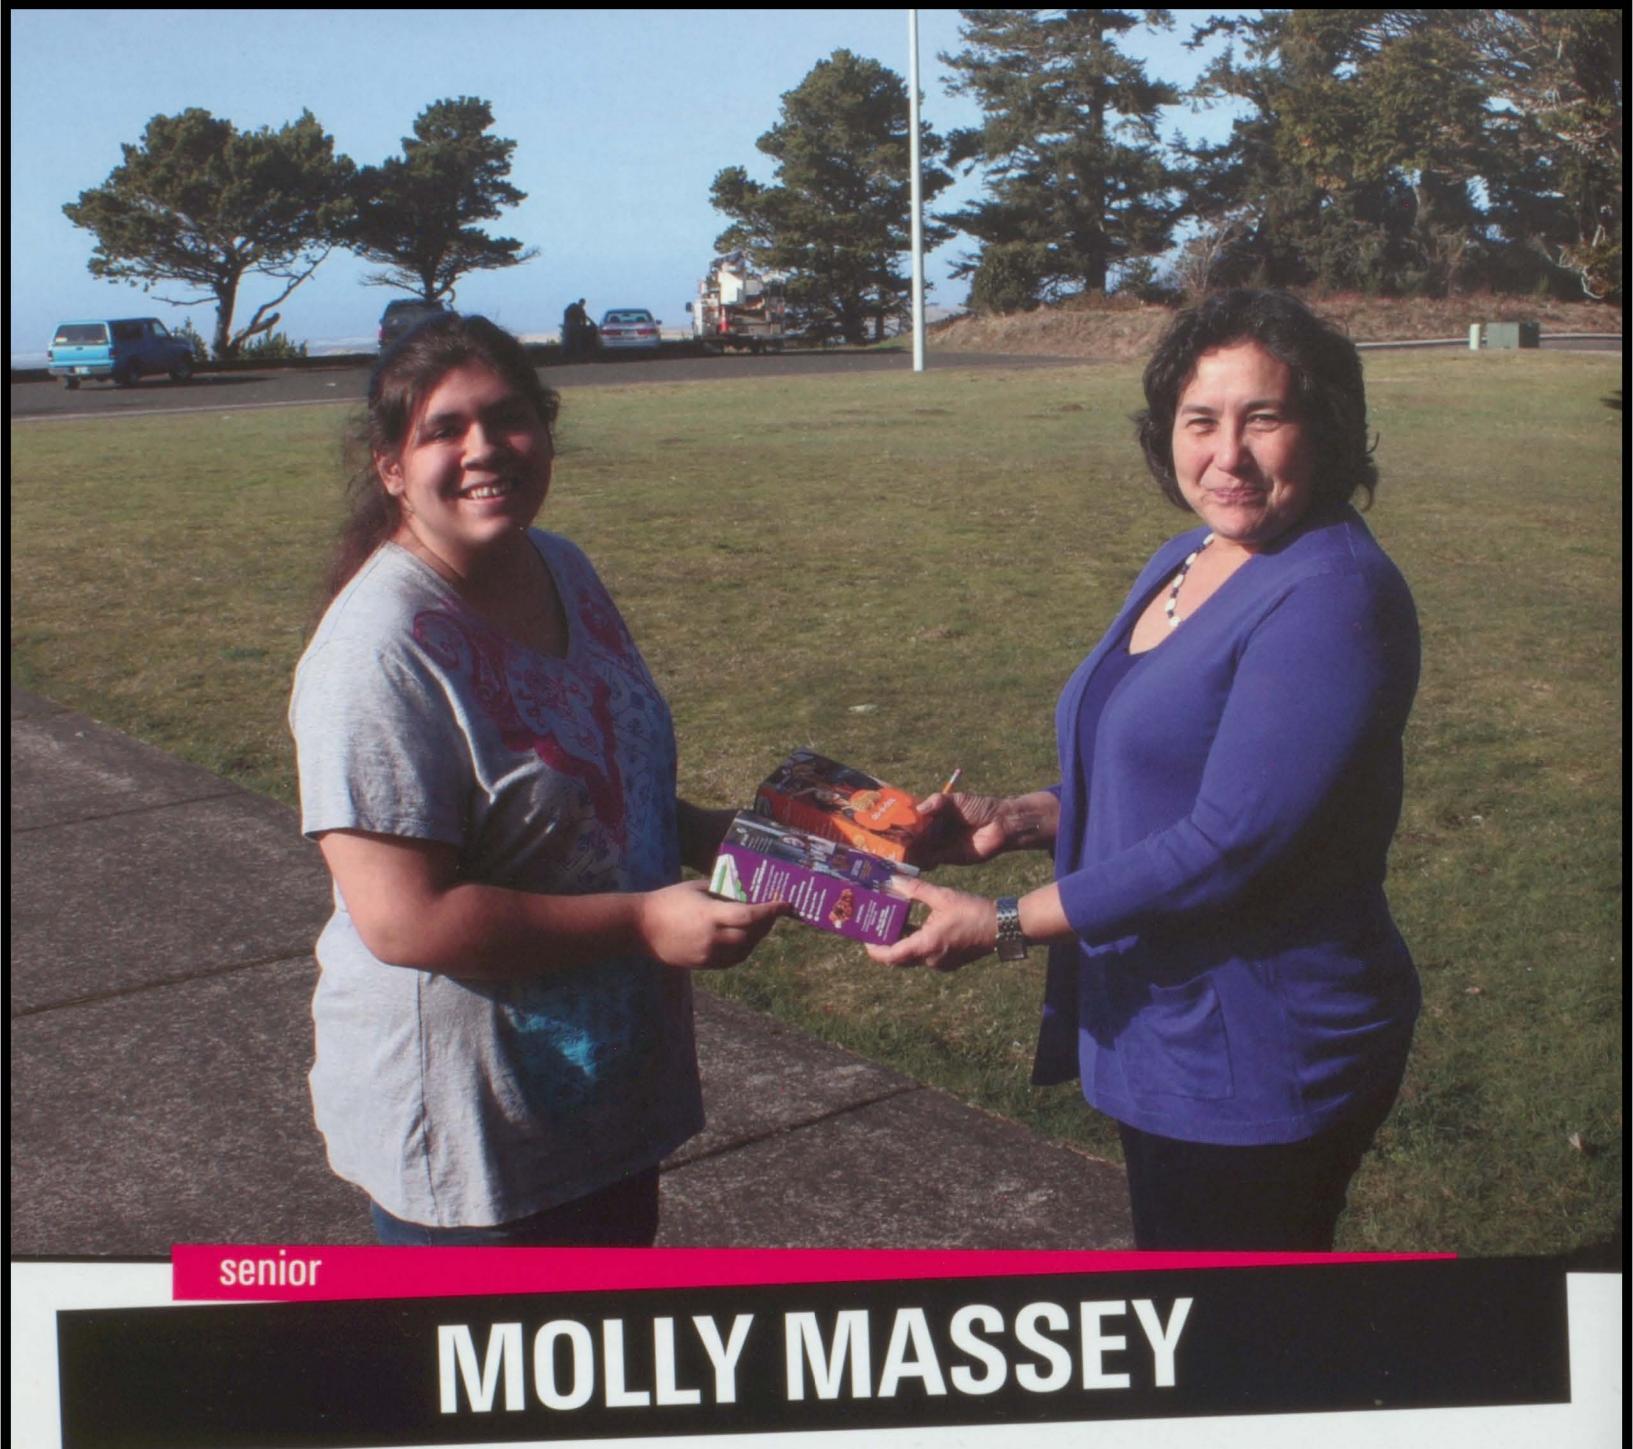

Though this is Thompson's last year in 4H, the knowledge that he has obtained will stick with him throughout his life.

1. Thompson and Kazoo work through the agility course.
2. Thompson shows off his winnings while Kazoo proudly wears her ribbon.
3. Timber, a different black lab, acts too cool for the photo at a competition.
4. When he first started 4H, Thompson worked with Victoria, a Siberian Husky.

MOLLY MASSEY

BE PREPARED (AND EAT COOKIES)

Mollie Massey has been an active Girl Scout from a young age. Since the age of six, she has been going door to door selling those delicious Girl Scout cookies, making great friends, earning badges, and helping out around the community.

About every other weekend, this group of young women meet to help out and volunteer in the community. Through most of these activities, these teenagers can earn badges and work their way up the ranks. One of the hardest badges to get, Massey said, would be the Day Camp Badge.

"We have to go to the camp in the early morning until the late afternoon then do it over again for a whole weekend."

Other badges Massey has earned include the comic badge, the movie badge, two building badges, and many more. For the troop care package badge, she put together packages for the troops overseas.

The best experience she has had in Girl Scouts is the Zoo trip and she even got a badge out of it!

"It was an all-night trip to the zoo. We spent the entire night talking about animals and getting to look at them."

Her favorite aspect of Girl Scouts is the variety of activities, field trips, and volunteer opportunities. It is a great way to be involved while also learning and having fun.

People look forward to the arrival of their Girl Scout cookies from the moment they place their order. It's thanks to young women like Massey that these delicious treats are available. The sales experience is a great life skill, and helps the scouts learn public speaking, persuasion, professionalism, and self-confidence. These are skills that will pay off in college or future careers, as well as the scouts' social lives

When asked about her favorite cookie, Massey recommends the coconut and chocolate concoction, the Samoas. However, the most popular cookie choice among most Americans, including President Obama, is Thin Mints.

Besides selling cookies and earning badges, Massey volunteers with her troop at the pet center. With her helpfulness and love for animals, this is by far her favorite scouting adventure.

After graduation, Massey is hoping to utilize the skills she's learned in Girl Scouts to work with animals in whatever field she decides to pursue.

ALANNA KIEFFER

SEEKING NEW ADVENTURES

Alanna Kieffer's passion is to travel around the world. Though people often guess she is from Eugene or Ashland, Oregon, she was actually born in New York.

Kieffer was born and raised in New York and at age seven she moved to Pennsylvania. September 11, 2001, was one of the biggest tragedies the United States, and especially the state of New York, have ever been through. She was in school while her mom witnessed the second plane hit. This terrible event left a lasting impression on Kieffer.

"For weeks, my brother and I would have nightmares that planes were going to crash through our windows."

After 9/11, she moved to Pennsylvania and grew up there. Kieffer is not afraid to try new things and is easy to talk to, so meeting new people wasn't going to be a big challenge.

Moving to Seaside, Oregon was definitely a random decision. It all started when her mom told her that once she graduates high school in Pennsylvania they would move. But Kieffer said, "Why would you wait? Why don't we go now?"

Moving across the country in middle of her high school years was going to be an interesting experience. But she wanted an adventure, something new. She just wanted to experience something completely different and moving to the coast was a great choice.

Kieffer came from a school of 4,000 students and moved down to attend a 4A school. Her old school was new, big, and was located next to a gorgeous lake but once you stepped in campus you were locked in.

"You're locked in the building the entire day. You can not leave for lunch, and if you get caught leaving the building you get in so much trouble. What's even more ridiculous is if you're sick but you're driving someone to school, you could get caught pulling into the school parking lot. If they catch you dropping somebody off and then leaving, they can suspend you because you came on to school property and then left."

Once she joined the SHS student body, she had the experience of being the center of attention and a cause for drama. At such a small school, news travels fast.

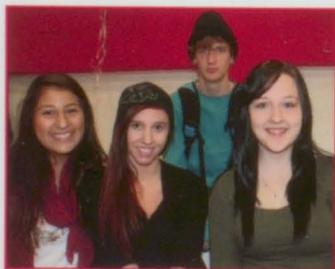

"So many students were asking me what my name is, who I was. And they actually came to me which was really cool because in my other school no student would have done that. I would be the one to go out and talk to them."

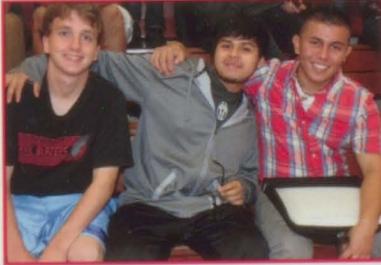

Since living in Seaside, she has had adventures at the coast, great accomplishments, and experienced various new things specific to the region. She loves dolphins, hula hoops for fun, and goes to festivals and concerts. She also just completed a week-long Olympic mountain range hiking trip.

One of Kieffer's accomplishments was getting a job at Haystack Rock because they didn't have a position for anyone under the age of 18. She persevered until the coordinator she was working with observed how much she wanted this position. Since Kieffer was so impressive, the coordinator went through the city to get it reinstated.

Kieffer is full of potential, ready to go out in to the world and experience it. She's had to adjust to many changes throughout her childhood, both positive and negative. Soon, she will move away from Seaside for another fresh start, as she attends Oregon State University to major in Marine Biology.

Garrett Flowers and Evelyn Castro, both members of the class of 2014, smile with last year's annual, "Color Your World." As yearbook staff members, they helped create it and are able to appreciate the fact that every year, Golden Sponsors make sure that all graduates receive a book at the end of their senior year, whether they could afford one on their own or not. This gift means that all seniors will be able to look back and cherish their time at Seaside High School. That's priceless!

Madison Dierickx

"To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty, to find the best in others; to leave the world a little bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived. This is to have succeeded."

Jordan, I still remember sitting with you in the rocking chair watching Power Puff Girls. You looked up at me, with your kaleidoscope-colored eyes and long honey blonde hair and said that you wanted to grow up to be a strong, independent woman, who spoke her mind, would fight for what was right, and excel in everything you do. Well, at five years old it wasn't exactly those words, but that's exactly what you meant. At 18, you reached your goal of being a strong, independent woman, who speaks her mind, fights for what is right, and excels in everything you do. Of course, you've had several hair colors since then, but you still have those kaleidoscope-colored eyes.

I love you, all that, plus infinity, plus one.

"The Little One"
Once upon a time, there was a young child known as
The Little One.
She was supportive and kind, helpful and sweet, the youngest in her family.
It takes a special kind of grace to bear the title and position, and The Little One was graceful.
As she grew, The Little One became more assertive, bold, humorous, bright and colorful.
It takes a special kind of strength to grow into oneself behind so many, and The Little One was strong.
Now a woman, The Little One moves on to share her light.
It takes a special kind of love to give back to the world, and The Little One is loving. I love you Little One.
~ The Other One ~

I can't believe you are finished with high school.
It feels like just yesterday we were running around the yard together.
You've grown into such a smart, loving, and beautiful person it's clear everyone can see.
I know you will do great things in the next chapter of your life.
Love you little sister.
~ Taylor ~

From a bright eyed cherub to the beautiful young woman of today.
You've brought so much joy and laughter into our lives.
A constant friend, helpmate, loving daughter and sister.
We have been truly blessed by your presence.
As you begin the next chapter of your life,
Look forward but also look back.
We are here to encourage, love and support you.
~ Mom ~

Look out World! Here comes Miss Gabby!
The pleaser who let her siblings dress her up anyway they chose, the cheerleader who attended all the events, the follower who never complained, and the helper who never let us down!
It's YOUR turn Miss Gabby.
Great things await such a creative, giving, precious person.
We love you,
~ Dad ~

Garrett,

You are an amazing young man who has not allowed the trials in your life to convict you. You have stood in defense for faith in God, for love of life, for hope for the future and for the search for good in all mankind. You strive each day to find the moments of laughter and understand the lessons the days events have taught you. You do not crumble to peer pressure, instead you stand up for those who are ridiculed. You are not afraid to sing out loud, to dance and let yourself go or walk against the flow of traffic. You are bold, courageous, funny, sincere and confident. We, as a family are extremely proud of the man you have become. You have come a long way from the little boy in this picture. We can't wait to see the future plans God has for you!

Love,

Mom, Joel, Kyle, Brittany, Cody and Cole

SPACE STORIES

NOT ALL THE ACTION TOOK PLACE ON EARTH

NASA launched MAVEN (Mars Atmosphere and Volatile EvolutioN) in November to find out why the planet lost its life-friendly environment while a Mars surface rover discovered vast deposits of water trapped in ice caps which are two miles thick on the poles. Traveling at 27,000 mph with a diameter of three football fields, an asteroid missed Earth by two million miles. The Hubble telescope spotted an azure blue planet 63 light years from Earth where it rains liquid glass. In an effort to protect artifacts left by Apollo missions, two members of Congress proposed a national park on the moon.

HAWAIIAN WAVES The north shore of Oahu saw 40- to 50-foot waves in January, the largest since 2004. Though the waves presented the perfect challenge for the big wave surf contest, it had to be postponed because of the 40 mph winds.

TYPHON HAIYAN More than 6,000 people in the Philippines died as a result of November's unofficially strongest typhoon ever recorded. With winds up to 195 mph, the storm affected 13 million people and caused an estimated $1.5 billion in damages across the Philippines, Vietnam and Laos.

VOLCANO IN ECUADOR Tungurahua was expected to erupt in July but no one anticipated gas, stones and ash shooting 45,000 feet into the air, visible from 90 miles away.

TORONTO FLOODING Nearly five inches of summer rain fell on Ontario in two hours, disrupting the subway, stranding motorists and causing power outages.

YARNELL HILL FIRE A lightning strike in late June caused the Arizona fire. Strong winds and a long-term drought pushed the flames, which overran and killed 19 elite firefighters. It took nearly two weeks to contain the fire which burned 8,400 acres and destroyed 129 structures.

SNOW IN EGYPT In December, up to three feet of snow fell for the first time in 112 years in an area which averages less than one inch of rain per year.

MIDWEST TORNADOES Tornadoes tore across Midwest states in November, killing six people in Illinois and injuring 200. In all, 12 states felt the effects of the storms and more than 600,000 lost power.

POLAR VORTEX

LIKE A POLAR CYCLONE, THIS WEATHER PATTERN DIPPED SOUTH OUT OF CANADA EARLY IN JANUARY, BRINGING RECORD LOWS.

Normally this great swirling pool of extremely cold air stays over Canada, but in 2014 it came south, plunging temperatures into the teens as far south as Dallas and breaking records in 49 locations on one day. January 6 saw 26 states under wind chill advisories and watches which closed schools across the Midwest and East Coast. For the first time in decades, the Great Lakes were almost completely frozen with only 12 percent open water. After a brief respite, temperatures took a dive later in the month and several inches of snow across Alabama and Georgia brought major cities like Atlanta to a standstill. The extreme weather created problems beyond the United States as unusual cold and snow stretched across Europe. Record snowfall in Japan killed 19 people in February.

NEW SPECIES FOUND

CUTE RACCOON RELATIVE DISCOVERED IN THE AMAZON

Although it was only one of many species discovered in the past year, the carnivorous olinguito drew the most attention. This nocturnal cutie, related to the common raccoon, lived in the Amazon cloud forest. For years, this species had been confused with the common olinguito, perplexing zoo personnel when they refused to mate with others of seemingly their own kind. The Smithsonian's curator of mammals announced both anatomical and genetic evidence that marked it as a new species. The new breed had more appeal than another new species discovered in 2013: Australia's leaf-tailed gecko.

TRENDS & TECHNOLOGY

FROM COLOR RUNS AND SHARING VIDEOS TO DELIVERY DRONES, NEW IDEAS PUSH THE LIMITS OF IMAGINATION AND INNOVATION

Started as an event to promote healthiness and happiness by bringing the community together to participate in the "Happiest 5k on the Planet," Color Runs experienced exponential growth again in 2013. Runners dressed in white got doused in neon-colored powders at every kilometer and each of the more than 170 events in 30+ countries in 2013 ended with a "Finish Festival," a post-race party with music, dancing and massive color throws designed to create even more vivid color combinations. Beginning in June, Instagram added the ability for users to shoot and share 15-second videos, enhanced by one of 13 special filters. The new video feature was released as a free update to the existing Instagram app. A delivery debacle "ruined holidays" coast to coast when demand for shipping of online purchases exceeded capacity and winter storms caused delays in major hubs nationwide. Considering other options, Amazon CEO Jeff Bezos told CBS News he expected a drone delivery system to be in place for unmanned aerial deliveries as soon as federal rules changed to allow such flights.

NO SHAVE NOVEMBER PROCTER & GAMBLE'S CFO REPORTED THAT NEARLY FLAT SALES GLOBALLY WERE PARTIALLY TO BLAME FOR A SIGNIFICANT DROP IN SECOND-QUARTER NET INCOME, BUT HE ALSO SAID THAT HIPSTERS AND AMERICA'S LOVE AFFAIR WITH FACIAL HAIR – PARTICULARLY, THE TREND OF GROWING MUSTACHES IN NOVEMBER KNOWN AS "MOVEMBER" – HURT SALES OF RAZORS.

Facebook enabled users to search for conversation topics within status updates and posts with Graph Search, and launched clickable hashtags. Plus, founder Mark Zuckerberg and crew acquired WhatsApp for $16 billion to add mobile messaging capabilities.

NEW RELEASES Apple upped the game with colorful and metallic phones in the iOS 5 line as well as adding Retina display to all latest generation products. The Smarty Ring, a Bluetooth-enabled wearable gadget allowed users to check smartphone alerts and manage incoming calls right from their fingers. Users could manage the settings for their Smarty Rings from a mobile app, and use the device as a watch, timer or phone finder.

FITBIT & NIKE FUEL Fitness tracking products that synched step counts, fuel burned and other data to users' phones or computers increased in popularity. WEIGHTLESS PROJECT This project was an effort to bridge the gap between obesity and hunger. By partnering with health and fitness brands, social organizations and philanthropic foundations, the project converted the calories burnt into funds, which were donated to programs for food relief and malnutrition.

no genetically modified organisms

The Non-GMO Project – a non-profit with the mission of protecting the food supply and giving consumers an informed choice – was started to identify products produced according to known industry best practices.

WAR IN SYRIA

More than two years after the Arab Spring uprising began, the conflict in Syria continued to pit forces loyal to the Ba'ath government against those seeking to oust it. A chemical attack — the worst in 25 years — that killed hundreds and wounded thousands more in Damascus in August led to U.S. calls for military action against Syria, which denied responsibility and blamed rebel fighters for the deaths. Within weeks Russia, a long-time Syrian ally, presented a proposal to eliminate the regime's chemical weapons stockpile under international supervision and the White House backed off. While the U.N., the European Union, Arab League and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation scheduled a second round of peace talks in Geneva for February, the talks ended in a stalemate.

IRS SCANDAL

While the mission statement for the Internal Revenue Service pledges to "enforce the law with integrity and fairness to all," controversy flared after a report revealed the agency's targeting for closer scrutiny of specific groups applying for tax exemptions, based on their names or political themes.

Ultimately, lawmakers called for the resignations of three IRS commissioners, but no criminal charges were ever filed.

GUILTY IN ABSENTIA AT HER THIRD TRIAL: AMANDA KNOX, AGAIN FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING HER BRITISH COLLEGE ROOMMATE IN ITALY IN 2007, WILL APPEAL THE VERDICT.

OBAMACARE (AFFORDABLE CARE ACT)

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IN HEALTH CARE IN DECADES

While the new plan was intended to put consumers back in charge of their health care, there was not consensus on the bill's effectiveness. Supporters contended that the "Patient's Bill of Rights" gave the public tools and choices they needed to make informed choices about their health. Detractors complained of technical issues, paperwork problems and higher-than-expected premiums.

POLITICAL WEAPONS STRUGGLES

CHINA AND NORTH KOREA FLEX THEIR MUSCLES

Growing tension between China, a rising maritime power, and the United States, the dominant naval power in the Pacific, nearly caused a collision between two carriers in December. The American vessel, which was traveling in international waters, maneuvered to avoid the Chinese ship which had intentionally crossed its bow. Satellite images from February showed that North Korea had expanded its main satellite launch site, apparently to accommodate larger rockets being developed for its intercontinental ballistic missile program. While actions suggested imminent nuclear attacks against South Korea, Japan and the United States by the new North Korean administration under Kim Jong-un, the government blamed tensions on military exercises carried out by the United States and South Korea.

STATE OF THE UNION

OBAMA: 'THE REST OF MY PRESIDENCY IS FOR WORKING-CLASS AMERICA'

Action was the underlying theme of President Barack Obama's Jan. 28 State of the Union address. The president — whose popularity ratings had declined to 42 percent — outlined goals and priorities that included economic opportunity, energy and education, and called for more government support to help rebuild the nation's infrastructure in order to spur growth and create more employment opportunities.

50TH ANNIVERSARIES CROWDS VISITED THE NATIONAL MALL IN AUGUST FOR A WEEK OF ACTIVITIES COMMEMORATING 1963'S CIVIL RIGHTS MARCH ON WASHINGTON AND DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.'S "I HAVE A DREAM" SPEECH. JUST MONTHS LATER, PUBLICITY OVER THE ANNIVERSARY OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY'S ASSASSINATION CREATED RENEWED INTEREST. THEN, IN FEBRUARY, THE IMPACT OF THE BEATLES' FIRST APPEARANCE ON THE ED SULLIVAN SHOW WAS CELEBRATED.

around the world

HERO OR TRAITOR? Edward Snowden, a former CIA employee and National Security Agency (NSA) contractor, became known worldwide when he disclosed classified documents to the media. The leak fueled debates over mass surveillance, government secrecy and the balance between national security and privacy. CONTROVERSIAL TRIAL Protests erupted when a jury found neighborhood watch participant George Zimmerman not guilty in the death of Florida teenager Trayvon Martin. SCHOOL LUNCH POISONING At least 23 students died and dozens more fell ill at a village primary school in eastern India after eating contaminated free lunches. Angered by the incident, villagers took to the streets in protest. HE'S THE MAN Just one year into his papacy, Pope Francis was named Time magazine's 2013 'Person of the Year.' His acts of humility, simple lifestyle and welcoming ways quickly improved the Catholic Church's image. EGYPTIAN OUSTER Protests raged for months after the overthrow of Egyptian president Mohammed Morsi. The Islamist leader contended that he remained Egypt's legitimate president because there had been no official decree removing him from office. A FRESH START The city of Detroit officially became the largest municipality in U.S. history to enter Chapter 9 bankruptcy when a judge ruled the city insolvent. The decision allowed the city to negotiate as it attempted to eliminate $18 billion in debt. FREE AT LAST In a step aimed at "resuming the diplomatic process," Israel released 26 Palestinian prisoners in a gesture of good will between the two sides, days before a visit to the region by U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry. RANA PLAZA COLLAPSE An eight-story commercial building collapsed in Bangladesh in April, 2013 killing 1,129 and injuring 2,515 in the deadliest accidental structural failure in modern history. MERGER UNDERWAY The world's largest airline was created in December 2013 when U.S. Airways and American Airlines joined forces. UKRAINIAN PROTESTS Ongoing political unrest intensified when the world spotlight was on nearby Sochi, escalating to violence and leading to dozens of deaths. MORE FREEDOM TO MARRY In addition to a Supreme Court decision ruling sections of the Defense of Marriage Act unconstitutional, eight more states legalized same sex marriage, bringing the total to 17.

LET THE GAMES BEGIN

IT WAS A YEAR OF POTENTIAL AND PROLIFIC PRODUCTIVITY

The year was marked with not just game releases galore, but with games noted for their quality. From Ni no Kuni: Wrath of the White Witch, Far Cry 3: Blood Dragon, Antichamber, Grand Theft Auto 5, Fire Emblem: Awakening and Metal Gear Rising: Revengeance to Etrian Odyssey IV: Legends of the Titan, Tomb Raider, Luigi's Mansion: Dark Moon and Super Mario 3D World, there was something new for every kind of gamer. And the November 2013 releases of the PS4 and Xbox One systems presented potential for future possibilities.

READ ALL ABOUT IT

BUZZFEED LISTS 21 BEST YOUNG ADULT BOOKS OF 2013

A boom in Young Adult literature continued to present lots of new options for readers, and the absence of a new mega-series (think Harry Potter or The Hunger Games) opened up more space for weird, unreal, dystopian and/or fantasy works. New titles like This Is What Happy Looks Like by Jennifer E. Smith, Eleanor & Park by Rainbow Rowell, This Song Will Save Your Life by Leila Sales and The Beginning of Everything by Robyn Schneider were favorites.

ATHLETES FOR ANIMALS After Sochi's abundant population of stray dogs made world headlines, plans were put into action for the rescue, adoption and care of many. SPARTAN HOTELS AND BATHROOMS Visitors were unhappy with issues of comfort, safety and cleanliness. UNIFORMLY DISAPPOINTED When success eluded the favored U.S. speedskating team, members rejected their new "Mach 39" uniforms produced by Under Armour in cooperation with defense contractor Lockheed Martin and reverted to apparel worn in previous competitions. TECHNICAL GLITCH Russian organizers made a light-hearted joke at their own expense during the closing ceremony by referring back to the opening ceremony when one of the five Olympic rings failed to appear.

CANADIAN COMEBACK A disappointed U.S. team wears their silver medals, following a 3-2 overtime loss to Canada in women's hockey. TEAM CANADA Players celebrate their second consecutive gold medal, after beating Sweden 3-0 in the finals. 13 MEDALS Norway's Ole Einar Bjoerndalen, 40, added golds in a pair of biathlon events in Sochi and set a record becoming the most decorated Winter Olympian in history. U.S. MEN SWEEP SKI SLOPESTYLE United States' Gus Kenworthy, Joss Christensen and Nicholas Goepper took all three medals in the debut of freestyle men's ski slopestyle at the games. It was the first American Winter Games sweep since 2002. DUTCH DOMINATION The Netherlands took home a staggering eight gold medals – and 23 medals overall – in 12 speedskating events. The Polish and Russian teams were next most successful, earning three medals each. JUDGING QUESTIONED When Adelina Sotnikova – whose routine was regarded as having been slightly inferior to that of South Korean runner-up Yuna Kim, won the gold – many questioned the impartiality of the judges.

The men's 15km biathlon competition was postponed due to fog. Canadians Kaillie Humphries and Heather Moyse became the first women bobsledders to repeat as Olympic champions. Marcus Hellner of Sweden celebrates winning gold in the men's cross country relay. President Vladimir Putin visits Russian skier Maria Komissarova in a hospital after she sustained a broken back in a fall. Meryl Davis and Charlie White won gold in ice dancing, besting their Canadian training partners Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir by just 4.53. Mikaela Shiffrin, 18, won gold in women's skiing slalom to become the youngest Olympic alpine champion ever.

KEEPING BOSTON STRONG

THE BOSTON MARATHON – AN ICONIC RITE OF SPRING – FALLS VICTIM TO A TERRORIST ATTACK BUT THE CITY UNIFIES IN A SHOW OF STRENGTH

Since 1897, runners had gathered on the third Monday in April to run the Boston Marathon, which ended in the city's center. But 2013's race was different. Chechen immigrants Tamerlan and Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, ages 26 and 19 respectively, set off a pair of bombs made in pressure cookers packed with ball bearings and nails, killing three and injuring 260. Within days, the elder died in a shootout with police and his brother was captured when he was discovered hiding in a boat stored in a backyard. The surviving brother said the duo had hatched the plot as retribution for civilian deaths in Iraq and Afghanistan as a result of the U.S. conflict there. Residents of Boston and others worldwide banded together to be strong in a time of chaos and to raise funds to aid the victims. One Fund, the charity formed to benefit victims, provided more than $70 million in aid. The Boston Marathon – and the city itself – were about courage and resilience and community.

BASKETBALL MAGIC WHEN PENNSYLVANIA'S KEVIN GROW – A DOWN SYNDROME STUDENT AND MANAGER OF HIS SCHOOL'S BASKETBALL TEAM – MADE A SERIES OF THREE-POINT SHOTS IN THE TEAM'S FINALE, THE VIDEO WENT VIRAL. IN WEEKS THAT FOLLOWED, HE SUITED UP WITH BOTH THE SIXERS AND THE GLOBETROTTERS.

Prince George of Cambridge, born on July 22, was Queen Elizabeth's first great-grandson. His birth marked only the second time in history that three generations of direct heirs to the British throne had been alive at one time. Thanks to an elaborate project by the Make-A-Wish Foundation, 5-year-old Miles Scott, whose leukemia was in remission, had a chance to fight crime around San Francisco – which had been transformed into Gotham City for a day – in November.

NELSON MANDELA

HAILED AS A TIRELESS FIGHTER FOR RACIAL EQUALITY, HE RECEIVED MORE THAN 250 AWARDS DURING HIS LIFETIME

Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela, born in a small village in South Africa on July 18, 1918, fought against apartheid and injustice until his death on December 5, 2013. He became involved in the anti-apartheid movement in his 20s and spent 20 years directing acts of defiance against the South African government. In the early 1960s he spent five years in prison for organizing a three-day workers' strike and two years later was sentenced to life for political offenses. He served 27 years and contracted tuberculosis during his incarceration. He shared the Nobel Peace Prize with President F. W. deKlerk in 1993 and was elected South Africa's first black president the following year, serving for five years. He retired from public life in 2004 but continued to promote humanitarian efforts throughout the world.

RIGHTING THE COSTA CONCORDIA The cruise ship hit a reef off Italy in January 2012, capsizing and claiming 32 lives. After 18 hours and preparation by 500 engineers and divers, the ship was righted in September 2013 so it could be dismantled and scrapped. SAN FRANCISCO PLANE CRASH An Asiana flight from South Korea hit the seawall short of the runway at San Francisco International Airport in July, shearing off the landing gear and tail section of the Boeing 777. Two of the 307 passengers died at the scene, one having been run over by a fire truck. Another passenger died later and 181 suffered injuries.

NYC DERAILMENT A Bronx commuter train jumped the tracks after traveling nearly three times the posted speed limit into a curve. All seven coaches and the locomotive came off the tracks, killing four of the 150 passengers. The engineer admitted to nodding off before the crash. DEADLY TRAIN DISASTER Canada's worst railway catastrophe in nearly 150 years left 47 people dead when a runaway oil tanker train derailed and exploded in Lac-Megantic, a resort town of 6,000 near the U.S. border. The resulting fire burned for more than 36 hours, damaging 30 buildings and forcing thousands to evacuate their homes.

REST IN PEACE:

FOUNDER OF USA TODAY AL NEUHARTH, JOURNALIST HELEN THOMAS, FORMER ISRAELI PRIME MINISTER ARIEL SHARON, SOUND OF MUSIC'S MARIA VON TRAPP

Gun violence continued to plague schools. In June, six people, including the shooter, died when 23-year-old John Zawahri opened fire in the library at Santa Monica College. He had also killed his father and brother at their home. In October, 12-year-old Jose Reyes shot a teacher at Sparks Middle School in Nevada before turning the gun on himself. A month later in Colorado, Karl Pierson shot and killed Arapahoe High School classmate Claire Davis and then shot himself. He was looking for a faculty member who had angered him. In the midst of these tragedies, people took comfort in the story of Antoinette Tuff, the bookkeeper at a Georgia school. When a gunman stormed the building, she talked him into surrendering by telling him stories of her own life trials.

In the aftermath of numerous mass shootings, the president called on lawmakers to take action to reduce gun violence. The effort met stiff resistance from the National Rifle Association and other groups. A proposed bill expanding background checks for all firearms purchases stalled in the Senate in April when supporters came up six votes short of the 60 needed.

For many, one of the Super Bowl highlights was Bruno Mars' halftime performance. BOSTON PROUD After the Boston Red Sox finished off the St. Louis Cardinals in game six of the World Series, David Ortiz was named MVP. His .760 on-base percentage and .688 batting average were the second-highest in Series history. THE HEAT WAS ON Miami Heat all-stars Dwyane Wade and LeBron James celebrate defeating the San Antonio Spurs 95-88 in game seven of the NBA Finals. James repeated as series MVP, earning the honor for the fourth time. W IS FOR WIN Minnesota Lynx players with the championship trophy after defeating the Atlanta Dream 86-77 in game three of the WNBA Finals. The Lynx swept the series, becoming just the second WNBA team to do so since the best-of-five finals format was adopted in 2005. SIX-TIME CHAMPION Jimmie Johnson, driver of the number 48 Lowe's Chevrolet, celebrates winning the NASCAR Sprint Cup Championship. His 2013 season included six wins, three poles, 16 top five and 24 top 10 finishes. FINAL FOUR Louisville Cardinals guard Kevin Ware poses with the net he cut after an 82-76 victory over Michigan in the Final Four at Atlanta's Georgia Dome. It was Louisville's second consecutive Final Four appearance and their first championship title since 1986. CHAMPIONS AGAIN UConn players celebrate their 93-60 win over Louisville in the NCAA Women's Final Four. The championship was the Huskies' seventh since 2000. EXCITING TO THE END Florida State fans celebrate a 34-31 BCS Championship victory over the Auburn Tigers. The Seminoles took the lead on a 2-yard touchdown pass with just 13 seconds remaining in the game. On the final play, Auburn attempted several unsuccessful laterals.

STEROID ALLEGATIONS IN BASEBALL

In July, 2013, Major League Baseball suspended 14 players accused of obtaining steroids from a south Florida clinic. While many of the suspensions were for 50 games, Yankee Alex Rodriguez's 162-game suspension kept him out the entire 2014 season.

Australian Adam Scott celebrates after making a putt for birdie on the 18th before going on to win the 2013 Masters at Augusta National. Top-ranked Inbee Park of South Korea won both the LPGA Championship and the U.S. Open. Twenty-two teams entered the Tour de France cycling race, which was won by Britain's Chris Froome of Team Sky. Britain's Andy Murray defeated Serbia's Novak Djokovic in the men's singles final at Wimbledon. Marion Bartoli of France returns to Sabine Lisicki of Germany during the women's singles final before capturing the title at Wimbledon. Though the rain stopped before the race, Kentucky Derby track conditions were cold and sloppy. Orb, the Florida Derby winner and a 7-2 favorite, prevailed. Street skateboarder Nyjah Huston wins gold at the 2013 Summer X Games.

YASMINE MORRIS

Yasmine Morris' vibrant and witty attitude perfectly reflects her personality. As a child she would seem to be distracted but in fact she was, what her mother and teachers would call, "daydreaming." In her mind she would narrate and rewrite sentences. She would change words to make the sentences sound logical.

Sometimes Morris is in her own little world and people think she is not listening to them. At times she will listen and is not distracted, but other times Morris is "daydreaming." It will not matter if she is walking, eating, or even talking; she could be narrating her daily life as she goes through it.

One of Morris's favorite quotes would have to be "If there is no transformation inside each of us, all the structural change in the world will have no impact on our institution," by Peter Block.

"I like it because we need to change ourselves. We can't expect the world to change without changing ourselves."

She could not decide on one quote, so her second favorite quote would be, "If you want to change the world pick up your pen and write," by Martin Luther King, Jr.

"I believe that we can all influence the world and society just by our ideas. It is surprising to see how much media has to do with the ideals we all have. Writing influences people and it can bring things out in people just from what you say."

Words can change someone's opinion or viewpoint. They hold many different meanings and have powerful messages that can be inspirational to some people. They can bring things out in people. Morris enjoys how creative writing can be and go in different directions. It can be something mysterious, dangerous, or even laughable.

"I wouldn't call myself necessarily a good writer. I still have a lot to learn."

There is no secret to her writing. She goes with the flow and does not make an outline when she writes.

She enjoys writing and has proven to be an extraordinary writer, after receiving the highest writing score out of the senior class. From this, she was given the opportunity to write for The Daily Astorian newspaper.

"My heart, it either stopped beating or beat really fast. I think it stopped and then started beating really fast because I could not believe that I had been given this opportunity. It just felt amazing. I felt like I could actually go somewhere. It wasn't just a dream anymore, it could be a reality."

Morris had only viewed writing as a hobby, but if she had the opportunity to make a living from writing in the future she would be happy to take it. From writing with The Daily Astorian, she will discover if she would like to pursue a career in writing and will be one step further towards reaching her goal.

Working with the Daily Astorian has earned Morris a little extra cash.

"I earn fifty dollars for each story. I know, I'm practically a millionaire."

Sarcasm is also one of her many great qualities. It is amazing to know that people are given the opportunity to write news articles at such a young age. Morris has not started writing in a very well-known newspaper, but every writer has to start from somewhere.

Hopefully this opportunity opens up an endless amount of doors for Morris to choose from and find a career she enjoys.

PLUGGED IN

Alex Garcia is not your typical Seaside High School student. At only 16 years old, he built a computer from scratch and currently manages his own YouTube Channel. Many of his classmates are not aware of Garcia's many talents. He is described as timid, but when you get to know him he is quite the opposite. His passion might not be schoolwork, but he excels in anything that has to do with technology.

People often refer to Alex as a "nerd" but he doesn't take it as an insult.

"No, I don't really mind.... I mean, I guess I am [a nerd] because I play video games, I have a YouTube Channel, and the glasses help. Oh yeah, and the fact that I play Pokémon too. But no, being called a 'nerd' is a compliment to me."

You would think building a computer would take a while, but it only took Garcia a short period of three months. He has five other computers, and out of all of them he considers his computer named "Becky Joann" to be the best. So far Garcia hasn't had any problem with the computer, and he says it was very much worth the while.

"I really like Becky, I mainly built her for fun. Besides working, I didn't have anything to do. I started making YouTube Channels on my other computer, and that motivated me to make Becky. I needed an advanced computer with better quality."

Garcia was in his comfort zone. It looked like he was just relaxing, but in reality he was handling all the tedious jobs for uploading his next YouTube video, while being interviewed. He was wearing one of his Tritton headsets, one ear uncovered so he could hear the questions.

"I think both building the computer and managing a YouTube Channel can be complex. The computer has so many parts that have to be put together in order for it to work. But after you record a video you can't just upload it. You might have to get rid of some parts of the video, or you didn't quite get what you wanted to show in the recording. For example, I always get rid of my sneezes. I just hate the glare on my glasses so I try getting rid of that too, but I'm still trying to find a solution for that."

He uploads a lot of play-throughs including everything from mobile devices to console games. He loves recording himself playing Pokémon more than other games. This is because he remembers when he and his cousins were six, and they would go to each other's houses to battle their Pokémon. Back then they didn't have to worry about schoolwork or jobs. They could just relax and spend their time battling each other, with the actual cards or playing the Pokémon video games.

"You know, I personally like the Nintendo 3DS more than [any] other console because Pokémon was mainly designed for that type of console. Plus, it's portable so you can take it everywhere. I also like playing with the cards, but when you play the video games you can battle with people around the world. They also include a campaign mode, I guess you can call it, which is very adventurous, and the graphics just keep on getting better every year."

Lately, Garcia has put aside his YouTube channel.

"I haven't put recording videos first; I've been working hard to get decent grades. My teachers think I can do better than what I've been doing so far. So, I've decided to prove it to them I can. Joining soccer was clearly one of the factors that made me focus on my grades more. I really wanted to be on the team, and I knew that in order to be on the team I had to work hard in school."

Garcia loves his channel, his subscribers, and his viewers, but he doesn't think he will be taking his channel very far. He wouldn't make uploading YouTube videos a career like others do. Garcia thinks he would like to either pursue a career in being a professional soccer player or video game tester. He likes admiring all the hard work put into each video game, but that it seems too difficult for a career.

"I don't think I would want to be the person designing the video games, because that's just a lot of work, and it can be stressful I'm sure. But playing a brand new game that hasn't been released is exciting. You sit there play the game for hours and then tell someone all the glitches and all the online defects you found while playing the game. They fix it, and make you play it again. But although they're coming out with a lot of great games, I miss the old ones. Sometimes they're more fun because they were more difficult. These days, video games are very easy to beat, and it would be nice to have a challenge."

ALEX GARCIA

IT'S ALL GREEK TO ME

Most people think of stereotypes when sophomore Hayliehe Bell says that she is Greek Orthodox. Some people imagine everyone yelling "Yay Zeus!" during an Orthodox wedding or ceremony. In reality, most Greeks are Christian Orthodox, and yell "sten-iasas!" ("cheers!"). Sometimes people yell "opa!" which means anything from "yay!" to "oh, crap!"

Greek Orthodox is a type of Eastern Christianity and includes chanting, singing, reading bibles, and prayers. Families of the religion will pray before each meal in the languages of English, Russian, Serbian or Greek. They will say prayers such as the St. Nicholas's Prayer, which is a mixture of English and Greek, or the Lord's Prayer, which is said during many different occasions. Praying plays a huge part of the religion and is practiced every day.

"I learned about Greek Orthodoxy when my uncle introduced me to it when I was very young."

She was baptized, in 2009, at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Cathedral. When Bell was baptized, she was given the name "Panayota," which is the name for "Virgin Mary" in Greek. She still continues to go to church every weekend in Portland.

"At church everyone around you treats you as family. You can grow great friendships and have fun. You can find your inner person and stay on the right path in life."

Bell's favorite part of the church service is Communion and her favorite song is "The Last Liturgy," which is usually sung by nuns on Mt. Athos.

Bell is very thankful for her religion.

"It helps me connect with a lot of people, especially when we can talk about God together."

Her Godmother and Godsister both live in Portland, and she visits them every weekend while going to church there. Sometimes it can be difficult for her to travel to Portland every weekend, but the benefit of being able to see friends and family while attending her church outweighs the difficulties by far.

There are many programs and groups that people who are part of the community can attend, such as Greek School, Greek Dance, Sunday School, and Youth Group, which is more commonly known as "Goya."

Bell would like to remind those seeking a friendly religion that the whole church community welcomes anyone who would like to join the Greek Orthodox Church!

JORDAN MILLER

SOMETHING WICCAN THIS WAY COMES

Her fingers shifted through her mother's dresser drawer and bumped into a smooth box that would change her life. Her mother told her that they were tarot (tear-o) cards and were used to tell the future. She was instantly intrigued as images of gypsies in huge hoop earrings and long flowing skirts flooded her mind.

Senior Jordan "Jojo" Miller was not born into her religion, she discovered it. Wicca isn't written on paper with ink, instead the soil is their paper and the water is their ink. It is left to the individual to decipher what it means; it's personal.

"When people think of witches they imagine satanists who kill bunnies, but this is far from the truth," Miller said.

Propaganda and common misconception have painted an unflattering image of the Wiccan belief system. Ever since Miller publicly announced her religion she has had to face discrimination.

"It was strange realizing that I'm a minority. Just recently, I was afraid to put Wicca as my religion on college applications fearing that I would be discriminated against."

This fear is the side effect of nationwide ignorance that Miller never had to deal with before. She's received mixed opinions from her peers. Some shared her interest in Wicca, others merely say it's weird.

"I'm just glad I haven't found someone who refuses to listen to me. Whenever my religion comes up everyone I talk to is open to what I have to say.

But I'm preparing myself because I know someone will refuse eventually."

Miller believes that everything has a spirit and that these spirits are connected. This ideal is also prevalent in her religious symbol, the pentagram.

"When you look at a pentagram you see five points. They are far apart, and as points they have nothing to hold them together. But when you add the lines you can see they're all connected."

This religious symbol is very important to her and she often wears it around her neck. The pentagram has many meanings but the most common belief is that each point represents an element. The lower points represent physical things that make up our environment, such as earth, water, air, and fire. The top point represents the soul.

Her religion has affected the way she treats people as Miller believes strongly in Karma.

"I believe there is a reason for everything a person does whether it be good or bad. No one is born with the desire to do evil. If you wish pain or suffering upon someone it will reflect back upon yourself."

When asked how she practices her religion, she provided a list of the different rituals she takes part in. All the way from a quiet evening spent gazing into her crystal ball to teaching others about tarot cards.

"The best part about Tarot cards is that you don't have to be Wiccan to use them. If you believe that there is more than just reality, that there is a spiritual side of life, Tarot cards are a way of communicating to the beyond. Indifferent of what your religion is."

Tarot cards are used to answer questions. The person who the reading is for thinks of a question and hold the cards, pouring their thought and feelings into them. They can be shuffled any way the reader wants, then set out three. There are many different ways to read the cards, but according to Miller, this is the easiest and most common.

The card to the left represents the reader's past, the middle card is the present, and the right card is the future. Once the three cards are dealt, it is time to look up their meanings.

Usually a Tarot deck includes a booklet with the definitions of all the cards, but every deck creator might have a different interpretation of what a card means. Miller's favorite card is the Death card.

"When I first tried Tarot, my future card was the sunset card, which is more well known as the Death card. I like the Death card because it doesn't mean what you would expect it to. The Death card means the ending of one thing but the beginning of another."

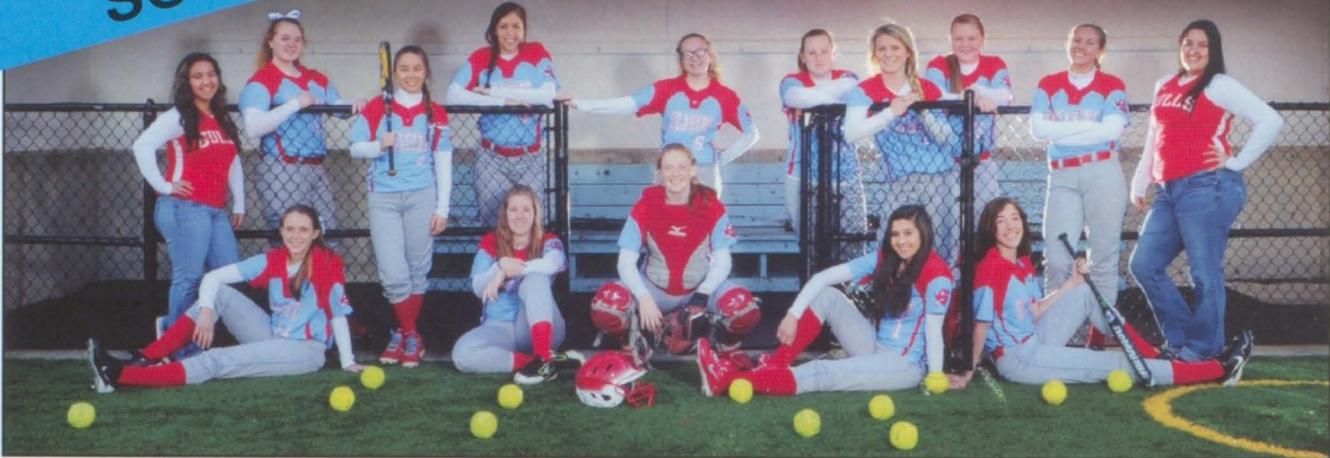

When Miller first tried Tarot she asked the cards about her education and for her the Death card meant the end of her middle school years and the beginning of her high school career.

That first experience was what made her excited to learn more about Wicca and also brought her to love it. Miller almost always carries a Tarot deck on her and is ready and willing to share her knowledge.

¡VIVA MEXICO!

CINCO DE MAYO

A dedicated team of Spanish students, led by Ms. Lynes, set out to share Mexican culture with as many Seaside students as possible. They knew that a field trip to Mexico was not a realistic dream, so they decided to do the next best thing: Provide Seaside students with delicious, traditional Mexican food. They named the event the "Cinco de Mayo Cafe". In order to accomplish their goals, the team chose to divide into two efficient subgroups. One group was in charge of taking orders and recommending their meals to customers, essentially the waiters and waitresses of this operation. The rest of the crew chose to work outside of the spotlight, preparing the food, managing the money, and supervising the whole affair. In the end the whole event turned out to be a big success and everyone who came into the Cinco de Mayo Cafe left happy and very full!

Two brave seniors, Kayla Perez and Sonia Perez, and one optimistic junior, Christian Avila, undertook the enormous project of coordinating Seaside Heights Elementary's first annual Cinco de Mayo Celebration. They organized this event because they wanted to continue the Cannon Beach tradition now that Cannon Beach Elementary is out of commission. They built a great relationship with Sande Brown, the Seaside Heights Elementary principal, and were encouraged by her unwavering support. Together they spread the news about the event, scheduled meetings, and choreographed the live performances. With the help of many committed community members, they cooked and served food, decorated, cleaned up, and even made some of the skirts that the children wore. This project provided the high school students involved an opportunity to become leaders, build on their communication skills, produce, collaborate, and direct. They were able to bring the Seaside and Cannon Beach community closer and while sharing their Mexican culture.

TALENT SHOW

Q&A WITH SOPHOMORE DESTINY WILLIAMSON

"Cancer" by My Chemical Romance

Q: What made you decide to be in the talent show?

A: I really like singing and I'm trying to get used to being on stage.

Q: Why did you choose the song that you sang?

A: I chose it because of this book I read called The Fault in Our Stars. It's about cancer, just like the song.

Q: How did you feel before you sang?

A: I was really nervous.

Q: How did you feel after you sang?

A: After the song it was okay. I was surprised that I couldn't see any of the people because the light was bright, so it was a lot better when I was done.

Q: If you were to perform again, what would you do differently?

A: I would rehearse more.

Q&A WITH SOPHOMORE ALISON ZAGATA

"Half Moon" by Blind Pilot

Q: What made you decide to be in the talent show?

A: A lot of people suggested that I should do it. I've performed every year of school that I've been in. Last year was the only year that I hadn't done it, so I decided to get back into it".

Q: Why did you choose the song that you sang?

A: That song is one of my favorite songs, and by my favorite band, Blind Pilot.

Q: How did you feel before you sang?

A: I was really, really nervous and my friends Annuka Brown and Jesse Trott said, "Stop freaking out, you'll be fine!"

Q: How did you feel after you sang?

A: I was pretty excited, It felt good.

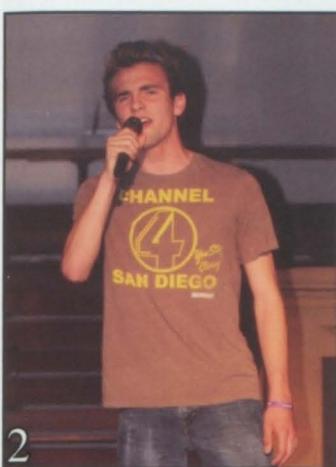

Q: If you were to perform again, what would you do differently?

A: I'd probably do something similar. It was a good experience.

GIVING BACK TO THE COMMUNITY

PACIFICA PRESENTATIONS

Assistance League of the Columbia Pacific

For Katy Kawasoe's Pacifica Project she joined the Assistance League of the Columbia Pacific. The Assistance League is a group of volunteers who raise money to buy clothing for Clatsop County children in kindergarten through 12th grade. Kawasoe primarily assisted with fund raisers. The Assistance League must raise the money they use to buy warm coats, shoes, and clothing for children in need.

Dog Therapy and Training

Ian Thompson has been working with canines in 4-H for years, so he decided to train dogs as his Pacifica project. He worked with therapy dogs as well as family dogs, and each one had specific needs. During his speech, Thompson demonstrated the correct use of several dog training tools, such as "choke chains" and longer leashes.

Kennel Crusaders

Zoae Finucane and Trenton Shaw teamed up to help shelter animals. They brought in two hedgehogs as a visual aide, because dogs and cats aren't the only animals that are often overpopulated, abused, or in need of adoption. One of the hedgehogs was from a rescue organization and one was not, so they were able to discuss the differences..

Surfing the Nations

Christian Anderson, David Ward, and Sonny Davis spent three weeks in Hawaii for their Pacifica Project. They participated in Surfing the Nations, which is a foundation that helps feed the hungry. They also do other community service projects, like cleaning up buildings within the community.

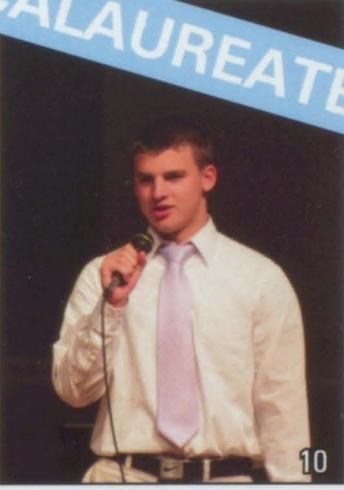

1. Artwork by Celeste Barriga 2. Kenzie Skyles 3. Braulio Ramirez 4. Brianna Raterman, Amanda West, Kaitlin Sproul, Megan Morris, and Kristen Findley.

A MEANINGFUL EVENING

BACCALAUREATE

Baccalaureate is a traditional religious service intended for graduates and their families, and includes a sermon. However, at Seaside the Senior Class Officers plan the event with their peers, so it is always interesting and varies widely from year to year. It is a mixture of speeches, talent, and prayer. Practicing a religion is not a requirement- the event is open to any students, families, or community members who would like to attend.

1. Danny Leary, Katy Kawasoe, Max Beaudoin, Aaron Tadei, and Parker Riser. 2. Mr. Ward talks to the Class of 2014. 3. Mr. Ward reads "Oh, the Places You'll Go!" to the group. 4. Mr. Dierickx addresses the class. 5. Maddy Dierickx, Tessa Hoelscher, Kenzie Skyles, and Kaitlin Lewis. 6. Kyle Rees, Brianna Raterman, Bekah Cave, Kaitlyn Cook, and Nana Jennet. 7. Senior Class President Nick Richardson. 8. Martin Trutanich reads an original poem he wrote for the occasion. 9. John Kero plays the "Imperial March" from the original Star Wars trilogy. 10. Max Beaudoin delivers a speech about experience and preparation.
